SINCE my business is ADVERTISING, I am taking my own medicine by advertising myself.

I do not intend to boast about myself, but I do want to tell you what I think I can do.

There are many clever men in the field. I know I have the keenest competition to meet but that will not prevent me from getting my share of the business.

I feel so sure of being able to help some business men to do a greater business by adopting the style of advertising I believe in, that I will be willing to take a modest fee, as I am certain you would not like, in fairness to me, that I should render this service absolutely free of charge.

THE ROYAL YAKUTI.

(ANANG VILAS.)

This Yakuti or life-giving nectar has been prepared from the best, choicest and richest vegetable drugs. It has a wonderful property of increasing the nerve power and is a specific for diseases. This valuable medicine is used in large quantities among Rajas, Maharajas and many of our esteemed customers. But we have ventured to give it publication simply with a view to place it before the general public owing to the demand of several friends. It is needless to expatiate upon the magical qualities of this our invaluable medicine. We would not like to blow the trumpet as is the fashion of the day, but suffice it to say that the use of this medicine is recommended to those who have any faith in the efficacy of Ayurvedic and Unani medicines. We recommend it also to those persons who desire to tone up the nervous system, to strengthen the body, refresh the memory and to guard against debility. It works like a charm and the effect is lasting. It restores strength and it is enough to say that musk is not that which a perfumer admires, it is that which diffuses fragrance of its own accord. Price per tin containing 40 pills. Rupees ten only. Postage extra. No PARHEZ necessary.

WEATHER REPORT

CYCLONIC STORM IN CALCUTTA.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Sept. 21.

(Delayed in transmission.)

A storm, cyclonic in character, is passing over Calcutta. It developed considerably as the day advanced. At 8 a.m. the velocity of the wind was thirty-four miles an hour. Outdoor work is almost suspended and tram service stopped. Several trees have been uprooted and a number of minor accidents occurred.

A report issued from the Alipore Observatory at noon says:—The storm in the Bay has developed during the past 12 hours into very severe disturbance with a centre not far from the Sandheads. It is moving very slowly and probably changing its track to north or north-east. Although on the whole the chances are that the storm will pass to the east of Calcuta. The track cannot be determined with certainly and it was thought desirable to give orders to hoist the great danger signal in Calcutta and the river ports. It is probable that in any case very strong winds will blow in Calcutta later in the day.

STANDARD BAROMETER READING.

The following information is published in order that vessels in the Bombay Harbour may by comparison with a standard instrument ascertain the errors of their barometers:—

The reading of the Standard Barometer in the Colaba Observatory corrected for index error and reduced to 32 deg. F. and to the level of the tide, at 8-45 a.m., Standard Time on the 22nd September 1916 was 29.611 inches. For temperature corrections applicable to mercurial barometer of ships the reading of the ship's barometer has to be increased or decreased by .031 inch for every 5 degrees according as the temperature of the attached thermometer is respectively below or above 80 deg. F. In case of the aneroid no temperature correction is needed. But for comparison at 80 deg. F, all aneroid readings should be increased by .138 inch. For correcting the ship's barometer either mercurial or aneroid for the height of the barometer cistern above the tide level in the stream at 8-45 a.m. Standard Time, the ship's barometer reading should be increased by .010 inch for every 10 feet of the height to make it comparable with the observatory barometer reading given.

The characters in this novel are of interesting, attractive and instructive nature. As a Mighty warrior, Timely saver of the weak. Good counsel, True friend, Charming and Truthful lover etc. Sir Ernest De Colmar is foremost among the several heroes introduced in the novels by the author who is unrivalled in the formation of his plots which are invariably of heart-thrilling nature. The description of the tribunal of the Bronze Statue the character of the Baron of Altendorf, the feminine characters such as Satanais, Emilia, Angela, and Gloria which are of different varieties will completely encircle the mind of the readers and expose several excellent morals. Dear Sirs,
Allow me to write you how pleased I am with the Britannic bicycle which I bought of you in 1911 and is in no way worst off. I have used it every day whether it rained or was dry and I am really pleased with the machine. I could not find words to express my pleasure, but looking to the price, the machine seems to be far cheaper than any one on the market.

Yours faithfully,

MAGNESIA HELPS DYSPEPTICS.

PATENT FOODS AND MEDICINES NO LONGER NECESSARY.

Many dyspeptics have now discontinued the use of expensive patent foods, harmful drugs, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, following the advice often given in these columns, they just take half-a-teaspoonful of pure "bisurated" magnesia in a little water after meals, with the result that they not only save money, but enjoy much better health. Those who have once tried "bisurated" magnesia never dread the approach of meal times, because they know that this wonderful antacid and food corrective, which can so readily be obtained from any chemist, will instantly neutralise acidity and prevent all possibility of the food fermenting in the stomach. Try this plan yourself, but mind you get the pure "bisurated" magnesia as other forms are unsuitable. 5137

PIECE-GOODS.

There has been a general stiffening of prices in the Cloth Market during the past week and all round values are on a considerably higher level. The enquiry from up-country has been slow and clearances have been poor owing to the rainy weather. But the local speculative demand is on a large scale, and is quite sufficient to give an impetus to the trade at the moment, and has no doubt helped to bring about a rise in values here to a fair extent. The advance, however, has been too rapid for up-country buyers to follow and they are at present purchasing only from hand to mouth. But as stocks in the consuming centres are light, an improvement in the demand is expected to set in soon. The Manchester Market is in a very strong position and quotations are quite prohibitive of business. The question often arises whether the present high price-levels ruling for cloth in Manchester are moderate or dear. The reply in most cases is that, taking all circumstances into consideration, they are moderate, although they seem to be startling in comparison with previous experience. The reasons for this view are, (1) the high price ruling for cotton, (2) the considerable advance in the values of yarn, (3) the shortage of labour and the consequent restriction of output, (4) the increase in the wages of weavers and other skilled operatives, (5) the scarcity of chemicals required for sizing, bleaching, dyeing etc., (6) the constant rise in the bleaching charges, (7) the heavy charges for case packing, (8) the curtailment of facilities for the carriage of goods, and (9) the high rates of freight and insurance. The causes that may lead to a further advance are, (1) a fresh rise in the value of cotton on reports of killing frost or rumours of peace, in face of the present poor estimate of the new American crop, (2) the feared shortage of supply of cotton later on, (3) anticipations of peace or actual peace which would cause a rush to secure cloths for all countries, (4) the regular increase cloths for all countries, (4) the regular increase in the costs of production, (5) the attempts of makers to improve their margins, and (6) the engagements of makers and spinners. But on the other hand it is urged by dealers that high rates in the local market would curtail consumption, and if by the time the high priced goods are on hand, the replacing costs become cheaper, due to causes such as (1) the want of orders by makers, (2) the crop turning out better than expected and the consequent decline in cotton, and (3) the curtailment of consumption due to the prolongation of war, they would have to suffer losses to a great extent. Caution is therefore exercised by buyers in purchasing, as much uncertainty exists regarding the future course of prices. As regards fresh business dealers have materially advanced their limits for some well known cloths but, the rise in prices continues to handicap business. A steady and generally healthy demand has been reported in a variety of cloths, such as Dyed Goods, Prints and Coloured Fancies.

GREYS.

In Grey Shirtings the general position is unchanged, though here and there a better feeling prevails in some cloths, which have advanced by two annas per piece during the week. In spite of the advance in prices in Manchester, some medium qualities do not fetch proper values. A range of 45in. by 37/37½ yds. Grey Shirtings has been sold in the bazaar at two annas per piece less than the cost price, and the sellers had to bear the interest of two years on the same in the bargain. Superior qualities of heavy Grey Shirtings are selling in retail quantities at fair rates. Grey Jacconets are firm and the price of No. 636 has been put up to Rs. 4-2-0 per piece. In Grey Drills the tone is better. An attempt is being made to depress the price of the American Drills to get a low basis on which to make purchases, which would be profitable in view of the fact that fresh goods are not epected at present and those firms that hold stocks are not willing to sell them. Lancashire Grey Dhooties are now moving slowly, as local Mill Cloths have gone up in prices.

WHITES.

Considerable activity is noticeable in White Goods due to speculative demand among dealers in the bazaar, who, realising that fresh goods cannot be had at reasonable rates from Manchester, have again turned their attention to local stocks. About 2,000 packages of standard White Shirtings, Mulls and Nainsooks have changed hands five to six times resulting in transactions of over 10,000 packages within the last fortnight. The sales in each transaction shew good profits to the sellers and the rates have enhanced considerably. To quote an instance of the change in the tone of the market, 33 and 38 in. by 18yds. White Nainsooks of Messrs. David Sassoon & Co., under Nos. 151/153 and 5110/5330 respectively have been bought by a Japanese firm at Rs. 3-6 and Rs. 3-10 per piece bazaar terms. These goods had originally changed hands several times at lower rates and were even advertised to be sold by public auction on account and risk of an intermediate buyer, but the same have now been bought by giving a profit of 4 annas per piece to the last buyer. 19yds. Sacharilla Heading White Mulls in wider widths shew an improvement of three to four annas per piece and several lots have changed hands in the bazaar. 58in. by 30yds. Red End Mulls are also in better request and the rate has advanced further by two annas per piece. In view of the replacing cost being high, dealers expect to see the rate touch Rs. 5 shortly. 48in. by 18yds. Mulls are selling well. 32in. Nainsooks are shewing some life, and rates are expected to advance.

BRITISH CAPITAL IN GERMANY.

LIQUIDATION ENFORCED.

According to the "Deutscher Reichsanzeiger" (Berlin), a Bundesrat Order empowers the Imperial Chancellor, at his discretion, to decree the compulsory liquidation of undertakings whose capital belongs principally to British subjects, or which are conducted or controlled from British territory, and of any British share in any undertaking. Such liquidation may also be enforced in regard to branches of firms, property of deceased persons, and real property.

The liquidation will be carried out by liquidators named by the individual State Governments, who are legally subrogated to the British owners and receive all necessary special powers, such, for example, as power to annul any document of title relating to shares, which is in enemy possession, and to direct documents to be made out in substitution therefore.

After the payment of costs the proceeds of liquidations, so far as they belong to British subjects, are to be reserved; but, with permission of the State Government, British subjects residing in Germany may be allowed the sums necessary for their maintenance from such proceeds. The Chancellor may delegate his powers to an Imperial Commissary.

THE COTTON "BOOM."

The forecast of a continued rise in the price of cotton made by Professor J. A. Todd, in an article on "The World's Cotton Supply" and the importance of the crop in the "Trade Supplement" of "The Times" for August, has been fully borne out, writes "The Times." At present the price of staple cotton in Manchester is the highest for nearly half a century, while on the Liverpool market there are remarkable flutuations.

The continual advance in the price of American cotton of Middle quality for early delivery during the last month has, exercised a paralysing influence on the spinning and manufacture of cotton goods in Lancashire. Since the second week in July the value of staple cotton has increased by 1¼d. a pound, or about £3 10s. a bale. As the average weekly consumption of this class of cotton in Lancashire is, in round figures, 60,000 bales, the advance in price is £200,000 a week—equivalent to an advance in wages of about 20 per cent.

The chief cause of that increase is the persistency of reports on the eve of the harvest of bad weather in the American cotton belt and exceptional ravages by insects. Some time ago the yield of the American plantations was expected to reach about 14,000,000 bales, but this is now regarded as a far too sanguine estimate, and 12,000,00 bales is regarded as a more likely yield. The situation is made worse by the fact that the surplus left from last season's crop is much below the average. This situation, combined with the knowledge that in all parts of the world there is a growing demand for cotton goods, has given speculators an opportunity upon which they have seized. Money being unusually plentiful in the United States is being freely used to finance cotton stocks. The "bulls" are having matters all their own way. A week ago the price was below 9d., to-day it was nearly 10d., and in some cases the statement is made confidently that it will go up to a shilling.

The price has not been so high since the passing of the influence of the American Civil War. In one or two isolated cases when the crops were indifferent and speculators were busy it has approached 9d. a lb. during the sully year, for example, but until this week it has never approached 10d. In some quarters the opinion is entertained that certain operators on this side of the Atlantic are not blameless in the matter. Having convinced themselves that high as is the price now it will go higher, they are buying, and in this way are playing into the hands of the speculators on the other side of the Atlantic.

BAD EFFECT ON SPINNING BUSINESS.

The effect of advances on the legitimate trade of spinning and manufacturing cotton is disastrous. Both spinners and manufacturers, unable to say how things will go, are not inclined to quote prices and adopt a policy of waiting. Offers for bloth continue to arrive from abroad, three-fourths of the products of the spindles and looms of Lancashire being for foreign consumption, but they are so much below the lowest terms that could be accepted that the business in progress is exceedingly small. The latest figures, however, seem to indicate that a much-needed decline in price may set in.

As American cotton provides five-eighths of the whole of the world's crop American prices exercise a controlling influence on other crops, and the rates quoted for Indian and Egyptian cotton, the two principal sources of supply after American, are also high.

The Liverpool Cotton Market moved in remarkable fashion yesterday, but although prices for American futures at one time showed an increase over Friday last of 44 points, the close was more subdued at five down to six up, the reaction, which was very welcome to many operators, being caused by reports of better weather in Texas and Oklahoma.

The recent sharp advance has been due to the fit of wild speculation which has broken out in America, and Liverpool has been compelled to follow the upward movement, though the market here distrusts the whole position and the best people consider that business has developed into a pure gamble. Trading in Egyptian cotton has been at even wider margins. This has been due to the fixing by the Alexandria market of a maximum price futures, which at the present parity of other markets is impossible. Holders will not accept orders on this basis, and orders are being sent to Liverpool, where heavy buying at high prices has resulted. A large "short" interest had been built up on the good weather reports, and the threatened flooding of the Nile, with consequent damage to crops, has caused a stampede to cover. Egyptian yesterday advanced as much as 86 points and finished 32 to 60 points higher.

GERMAN LIES BY GRAMOPHONE.

The Petrograd correspondent of "the Times" wrote in mail week:—

All imported gramophone records are hereafter to be censored owing to the accidental discovery of large numbers of German origin whose actual contents, instead of being the harmless musical productions indicated on the labels, were found to consist of scurrilous anti-Russian lampoons, preposterous reports in Russian describing the military situation and the internal state of Russia.

In certain cases, too, men of military age whose sympathies are considered entirely loyal to England, although technically they are of enemy alien nationality, may now be accepted for the Army.

About 2,000 people paid to see the football dribbled by the East Surrey Regiment into the German trenches, which was on exhibition at Kingston town hall.

CALCUTTA SHARE MARKET.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

CALCUTTA, Sept. 22.

At the share market to-day the position was practically unchanged. Jutes again found supporters at rates much in excess of those that were current a few weeks ago. A moderately large business was put through with no apparent falling off in the inquiry although for a time a slightly easier feeling prevailed in the afternoon. Coal shares attracted only a small degree of attention but ruled quite steady. In other directions there was not much of interest to report. The following sales took place:—

Coal:—Bansjorah 9-4, 9-8; Bengal 875, 876; Bhaskajuri 15-4, 15-7; Empire 7-8; Lakurka 27-4, 27-8; New Beerbhoom 49-8; New Tetturya 9-12, 10; Nodiha 9-12, 10; Nowaghur 18-12, 19; Raneegunge 32-4; Saltore 17-8; Standard 37.

Jute:—Albion (pref) 123, 124; Alliance (ord) 525, 530; Auckland (ord) 240 to 249, 244; Barnagore (ord) 112 to 115; Belvedere (ord) 358, 359; Budge Budge (ord) 440, 443; Clive (ord) 143, 144, 145; Dalhousie (ord) 310 to 315; Delta (ord) 420 421; Fort Gloster (ord) 487 Fort William (ord) 162 to 164; Gondalpara (ord) 560 Howrah (ord) 265 to 273; Kamarhatty (ord) 377 to 385, 380, 382; Kanknarrah (ord) 503, 508; Kelvin 50; Lawrence (ord) 305 to 310, 312; Northbrook (ord) 35-8, 36-4, 36; Reliance (ord) 250, 256; Boorah (ord) 177, 181; Standard (ord) 372, 375; Union (ord) 458, 463.

Tea:—Bhatkawa 57-8; Eastern Cachar 147, 148; East India 109, 110.

Miscellaneous:—Bengal Timber Trading (ord) 195; Carew and Co. Sugar 100, 101; Fort William Flour 24-4, 24-8; Russa Engineering 13-8, 13-12; Ryam Sugar 13-12, 14.

Government paper 3½ per cent was quoted at Rs. 79 to 79-12 and small lots were done at Rs. 79-11 to 80.

BOMBAY AMUSEMENTS.

EXCELSIOR THEATRE.

NEW VARIETY ARTISTES.

Pierce and Roslyn and Roe and Sutton enter upon the concluding nights of their highly successful season with the new programme which commences to-night at the Excelsior. Pierce and Roslyn on the conclusion of their Excelsior engagement proceed at once to London where they are booked to appear at the Palladium. These popular players have broken many records, but this is the first time that artistes have left a Bombay Theatre to go direct to a famous West-End house. Among the new comers to the bill to-night are Miss Mildred Grover, a distinctly original entertainer, with exclusive songs, impressions and patter and Mr. Dick Richards, who is not only her musical chaperone, but an exceedingly clever and artistic pianist. They have been an immense success since their opening. Another refreshing act is supplied by Miss Patricia O'Connor whom the London Press described as the Miniature Pavlova. This little Irish lady is equally good in International, Classical and Ballet dancing, and makes another completely successful addition to the programme. Miss O'Connor was recently playing in the Comedy Theatre revues in London, whither she returns after her Bombay season; thus emulating Pierce and Roslyn.

There is only one film attraction, besides the Gazette, but it is an extra good one from the famous Universal Co., called "The Great Ruby Mystery" a detective drama in two acts, but it has enough excitement and plot for four. Herbert Rawlinson of "Black Box" 'fame' is the leading star.

ROYAL OPERA HOUSE.

In the short space of a week Terence O'Rourke has become quite a popular hero among patrons of the Royal Opera House and a series many times the length of the present one would be certain of a large following. Unfortunately his "Adventures" come to a close next week, but his last exploit, entitled "The Pool of Flame," is the best of all. It is 6,000 feet long and full of excitement all through.

Some years before O'Rourke had been given a beautiful ruby by a soldier whose life he saved on the battlefield. A handsome reward is now offered for its recovery, as it belonged to a Buddhist temple in Rangoon. O'Rourke's rival in love, Duke Victor, and an Indian princess are both anxious to get the jewel, and it is stolen from Terence's friend. It changes hands many times but finally the hero recovers it and is thus able to win the reward, which makes possible his marriage to a beautiful princess.

When reading the story a great deal of the improbable appears, but this is eradicated from the film version, which is made remarkably realistic. All who like lively and exciting pictures should certainly pay the Royal Opera House a visit next week. The excellent orchestra adds much to the entertainment.

NEW ALEXANDRA CINEMA.

The picture-theatre public love a good mystery story, especially if the mystery be maintained with anything approaching success right to the end. Detective yarns there are in plenty, but patrons have become just a little surfeited recently by this sort of fare. A good mystery story, on the other hand, has an irresistible attraction for us all. The film dramatist who can manage to wrap up his story with sufficient ingenuity, introduce a mystery, and spice it with a touch of romance, is sure of the approval of his public. "The Mystery of the Cards" a four reel subject which the New Alexandra is showing to-night, is a story which contains all the essentials of a popular success. The story is original, and has the advantage of being told with remarkable skill, and at the very outset the producers have succeeded in creating an atmosphere which is maintained with unvarying success right to the finish. This in itself in an achievement worthy of more than a passing note, for so many good stories tail off after the first reel, and go helplessly to pieces. The programme also includes the Gaumont Graphic full of the latest news in pictures, two very good rattling comics, (featuring two new comedians, Billy Reeves and Ham), and an exciting one reel wild animal drama.

RACING NOTES.

Few, if any, race secretaries can realize, much less have any experience of the labour that devolves on the Clerk of the Course at Poona due to the perpetual rain that has prevailed through the racing season and the way the galloping and racing tracks have been cut up, not only through each morning's work but during the racing, and it speaks much for the indomitable energy of Mr. Reynolds, who, with his mind mostly employed over his duties as handicapper and also in the multifarious functions of Secretary of the Western India Turf Club, and of the Poona Races, still devotes what should be his leisure personally to supervising the repairs and preparation of the various tracks. Morning and evening he is to be seen walking round the course to see that the work is carried out perfectly. Mr. Reynolds' personality is identified with the smooth working of the whole racing administration and so far there has not been a discordant note to disturb the harmony that has prevailed all through in his relations with his multifold clientele.

I take this opportunity to make an amende to the Stewards of the W. I. T. C. for my accusation that they were indifferent to the welfare of the Trainers and Jockeys in not providing a club for them. I have the best authority for stating that the establishment of a club in Poona for the Trainers and Jockeys has been the subject of most anxious thought and concern, with the Stewards but insuperable difficulties have prevented them from carrying their benevolent schemes into operation as not a suitable vacant house has been available this season, but they hope to be able to do something next year.

I don't know why pony races for the Australian and English classes, have been deleted from the Poona and Bombay programmes. There are numbers of this class in the country and even now in Poona. If races for this class were restored under the W. I. T. C. administration many an owner of such ponies from Calcutta would come with his ponies this way and bring his horses also.

After each season's racing at Poona the principal owners and trainers set about readjusting their racing establishments for the winter campaign. The mediocre horses and ponies are cast out and jockeys that have failed to come up to expectations are advised to seek other engagements. About this time last year there was a shuffling of professionals and some changed for their own good and some for the good of the stables they left. This season promises to be no exception to the established practice and if rumour speaks truly there will be changes involving reflections on established English reputations.

Personally I have no faith in reputations acquired on English sporting fields. It is the English Press that confers these reputations and these are echoed abroad, while in fact they are of the mushroom order. I will instance one sphere in which English reputations have been ignominiously demolished. Many of the English polo players that the English sporting press extolled to the skies, when they came out to India could not hold their own even in "station game" company. I could quote chapter and verse but refrain as many of these, though very bad polo players, have now given their lives heroically in the cause of their country.

Resuming the topic of jockeys, there are two or three of the fraternity here that do not get the engagements they deserve simply because they have not English newspaper-made reputations. I will instance one of them, Traahn, who is second to very few in the brilliancy of his riding and especially in finishing power.

The rule regarding assumed names on the Turf requires some looking into from the non-racing man's point of view. In the Calcutta Calendar some one evidently with a very narrow outlook has adopted and registered Mr. and Mrs. John Peter as the racing names of himself and his wife. Now it so happens that among the Territorial Officers in the country is a Mr. John Peter, who is a Member of Parliament and is married. Is it open to him to take exception to his name being parodied in this fashion? Could I begin to race under the name of the Bishop of Bombay or of a Non-Conformist Minister, or of the General of this divisional area?

A regular attendant at the Tea House on the Poona Race Course of a morning can pick up a lot of gossip and "tips" the latter of which may make or break him if he follows them. One of the features of the morning assembly is the Superintendent's, faithful and favourite spaniel "Joe," a most sagacious animal, who looks if he cannot express his gratitude for the crumbs thrown to him.

NATIONAL FINANCING AND COMMISSION CORPORATION, LIMITED.

In their fifth report the Directors of the above Company state that for the year ended 30th June 1916, during the period under report, the Corporation is able to show a profit of Rs. 35,170 and steady progress is being made notwithstanding the crisis due to the failure of the Indian Specie Bank, Limited, and other Banking concerns and the dislocation of finance and business caused by the War. The panic which caused depositers to withdraw their deposits has considerably subsided and the amount of deposits with the Corporation in Fixed, Current and Savings Bank Accounts was Rs. 12,23,281 on 30th June, 1916, as compared with Rs. 3,73,425 on 30th June 1915.

The Directors recommend that the profit shown in the balance sheet should be carried forward to next year's account.

A German lawyer who has spent eighteen months in six internment camps in France says very few Germans escape, because they are too well treated and guarded.

QUADRANGULAR CRICKET CONTRETEMPS.

HINDU GYMKHANA'S REPLY TO MAJOR GREIG'S LETTER.

The joint cricket secretary of the Hindu Gymkhana has sent the following reply to the Bombay Gymkhana regarding the Hindu Umpire's decision in the Quadrangular cricket contest:—

"On behalf of the Committee of Management I have to acknowledge receipt of your letter dated the 11th instant enclosing a copy of Major Greig's letter dated the 9th instant.

"My Committee have given careful consideration to the matter and regret that Major Greig should have thought it fit to send such a letter and to have used the language that he has used with reference to the character of the Hindu Umpire.

"Mr. Pai is absolutely certain that Major Greig was out and that the bail had been dislodged and we have good reason to believe that there is a considerable body of outside opinion which bears out Mr. Pai's decision.

"When Major Greig appealed to the Hon. Mr. C. V. Mehta who happened to be in the Pavilion, the latter readily undertook to make enquiries and sent for the Hindu Captain from the field. He was assured that Mr. Pai was quite clear as to the correctness of his decision and that he was supported by some players on the field who were in a position to see what actually happened. In face of this, Mr. Divecker, the Hindu Captain, not having himself observed the state of the wicket thought that he ought to abide by the decision of the Umpire.

"My Committee think that such an action on the part of the Hon. Mr. C. V. Mehta even after the fall of another wicket should have been enough for Major Greig and his team.

"Occasions like the present have arisen in the past, when decisions of Presidency Umpires were found and acknowledged to be erroneous but our side never thought of raising a discussion in this manner, whether they won or lost the match. It is needless to add that however irritating decisions of the Umpire may be, they have to be gracefully accepted and if disputes of this nature are raised they would be interminable.

"Even assuming that Mr. Pai's decision was wrong, you will agree with us that any scene on the field was quite uncalled-for as also the subsequent treatment which several members of the Hindu team, including the Captain and the Umpire received and which has caused a good deal of dissatisfaction.

"My Committee do not agree that Mr. Pai with his well-known credentials could, with any propriety, be called a "Bad Umpire." On the unwarranted assumption that Mr. Pai must have realised that he was wrong, Major Greig's letter proceeds to charge him with lack of moral courage and neglect of duty in refusing to admit that his observation was wrong and to revise his decision.

"It is only fair that before making such serious imputations Major Greig should have stated the grounds on which he bases his assumption. Such imputations as to character are entirely opposed to the interest of sport and are calculated to create general unpleasantness. It is always a difficult matter to get any responsible gentleman with knowledge of the game to accept the thankless task of umpiring and if decisions are to be disputed in this manner no self respecting gentleman would agree to take up the task.

"My Committee are entirely unable to accept your suggestion that Mr. Pai should never be allowed to stand as Umpire in Quadrangular Matches.

"Should your Committee desire to pursue the matter any further my Committee are quite agreeable to its going before the Quadrangular Matches Committee.

"I am forwarding copies of this letter to the Parsi and Islam Gymkhanas."

CRICKET AT RAJKOT.

RAJKOT, Sept. 22.

A cricket match was played on the Rajkot Gymkhana ground on the 21st and 22nd between the Manavadar Officers' Club, captained by the Khan Saheb of Manavadar, and the Kathiawar Cricket Club lead by H. H. the Thakore Saheb of Rajkot.

The chief scorers in the first innings were Firozuddin, scoring 48 not out, and Abdul Aziz, who piled up 35. In the second innings Firozuddin though played his game carefully as usual, was caught when he scored only 27. Saleh Mahomed and Yusuf Beg also contributed 42 and 24 respectively.

The Thakore Saheb and Prince Bhojraj who played for the Kathiawar team, displayed an attractive game and scored 24 and 15 respectively. The match resulted in a draw.

THE BOMBAY CHRONICLE.

Saturday, September 23, 1916.

A VAIN FORMULA.

The East has been a-calling Sir Valentine Chirol these forty years and is still a-calling For his part he has answered, and is answering the call, according to his lights and opportunities. He has given the world brilliant studies on the problems of the Middle and Far East, by-gone problems forming the ground work of the tales of long ago. Even his later researches into the ramifications of the Indian unrest seem, in the retrospect, valuable only as tales of the C. I. D. re-written with infinite aplomb and reflected "authority"—a tour de force which gained immensely under advertising auspices the nature of which need not be more particularly indicated. Much kudos resulted, and, incidentally, a knighthood.

It goes without saying that of direct, first-hand knowledge of the men and things he dealt with in sonorous periods, Sir Valentine had none: he was far too exclusively occupied with notes on the file and Secretariat "impressions," and whispered confidences to which he listened with awed absorption. Even Sir Valentine lived and unlearned. As non-official-official-member of the Public Services Commission, he had abundant opportunities of meeting the authoritative exponents of unrestful India, and the experience sobered him. The formulas to which he reduced the whole problem of Indian Unrest,—hankering after racial or class ascendancy,—Hindu against Muslim, Brahmin against non-Brahmin,—and every phase of the religious or social or educational revival and every item of the purely political programme being dominated by a poisonous animus against the British Raj, have since been discounted. We would do Sir Valentine the justice to say that were it given to him to revise his former ideas in the light of more recent and reliable experience, he would be the first to abandon the old ferocious formulas. The fact is, Sir Valentine may not inaptly be compared to a sanitarian who, being commissioned to investigate the problem of the health of the Indian peoples, saw in the existence of malaria a sinister Hindu conspiracy, in the prevalence or periodic outbreak of epidemic disease the expression of an abiding anti-British sentiment, and in the persistence of insanitary conditions an irrefragable proof of the ineradicable desire of the people to make the British Government impossible. What would be said of the sanitarian who treated every expression of discontent with insanitary conditions which caused preventible disease and mortality as an expression of disloyalty to the administration! And yet that, or something approximating to that, was the position of this redoubtable investigator of Indian Unrest!

Like an unwelcome, but not on that account undeserving, class of people, Sir Valentine is still with us. We presume the East is yet a-calling. A man of mature years and of distinguished ability but unfortunately wedded to strong prejudices, he has been compelled,—cursed spite!—to take part in a discussion of complex Indian grievances affecting the whole range of administration and to live on more or less intimate terms with one of the most glorious and momentous periods in the history of the British connection with India,—the period covered by the Viceroyalty of Lord Hardinge. The great problem that has emerged from that Viceroyalty is how best,—and how quickly,—to remit the Government of India into the keeping of the people. The revelation of Indian loyalty is not more remarkable than the revelation of Indian unity, and both have destroyed, root and branch, the entire edifice of the unrest Sir Valentine so laboriously built up. The old formulas of the paternal Government of the District Officer leaving his pile of official papers to confer with the people and condescending to convey his verbal, instead of written orders to abide by his wishes, and of the entire efforts of the administration being directed to the one end that the growth of the national sentiment,—that of India's oneness,—may be smothered under considerations of administrative necessity,—all these have gone by the board. Grant the worst, that the expressions of this ever-growing national sentiment have not always been happy, the fact yet remains that it has to be satisfied, and that it will no longer do to ejaculate pious platitudes about "good Government" and "efficient Government" but to make the Government so good and so efficient as to make it acceptable to nationalist sentiment. That is the obvious duty laid on Imperial statesmen. For his part, Sir Valentine has apparently failed to realise the tremendous significance of the issue which is pending decision in the immediate future. He is still at his old game of reducing things to a cut and dried formula, with which Indian aspirations can be killed by a method of kindness.

The new formula is, "Indians are far too imaginative: they must learn to abide by the decisions of the practical minded administrator." Frankly, we have no patience with this formula. It is just the sort of formula that can be used to cover up every variety of administrative inertia and blindness to the realities of things. Now, the practical-minded administrator is apt to be content above all things to see the machine running. It is quite the most natural thing in the world that the machine should run, and he imagines that it should run for ever in the accustomed manner, and it is also the easiest thing for him to interpose an absolute non possumus to any suggestion that the machine might advantageously be made to run in a different manner. What is there of practical wisdom in the counsel which postpones such a reform of judicial procedure as shall make it conform less to police exigencies or the prestige of executive officers? Those who suggest this reform are impatient idealists who have allowed their imaginations to run riot! What, again, is there of practical wisdom in the determined effort to postpone all progress in local self-government, or if progress is indeed allowed, to be made in one direction to neufralise its effect by some change in another direction? The ardent Indian nationalist who brings his informed imagination to bear upon the practical problems of administration is not chary of accepting the lead of trained administrators. It is the latter who, by hugging the vain delusion that whatever is, must eternally be, thwart reasonable progress. The needs of administrative efficiency are all very well, but the Indian nationalist asks that this should not lead to the perpetual inefficiency of native-born India. There would be less hostility between the practical administrator and the Indian nationalist if tangible evidence were forthcoming that so fundamental a position has been clearly grasped by the former. Were this so, we need not worry about differences as to the rate at which progress should be achieved. It is the lack of clear assurance on this head that is the cause of much misunderstanding. As far as the poplar party is concerned, it may truly be said of them that they have never urged an impracticable programme of reform. They are necessarily in advance of the time, but then your very practical minded administrator lives not in the present but in the past. What is needed is the healthy co-operation of the official and the non-official in thinking out the problems of the present so as to anticipate the future. Sir Valentine Chirol's new formula does not help in this direction.

Notes of the Day.

Victory and Disaster!

The silence of the Roumanians as to the happenings on the Dobrudja Front has at length been broken with news of the most satisfactory character. The arrest of Mackensen's offensive was followed by a terrific battle which commenced on the 15th and lasted till the 20th and has resulted in the complete defeat of the enemy, who are now retreating southwards. A second telegram speaks of the enemy being "crushed" on the culminating day of the battle. Thus the Kaiser's boast of a great victory on the Dobrudja Front is shown indeed to have been premature. But no doubt His Imperial Majesty will now turn to Transylvania where the Roumanian left wing has suffered a set-back and will announce a great victory in that quarter. Thus the German public will have two great victories to hearten their drooping spirits and will remain in blissful ignorance of the disaster that has followed the first, as they are in ignorance of German defeats in Macedonia and Picardy.

Willy Nilly.

The new Greek Cabinet, half composed of Germanophils led by the gentleman who is not a Germanophil but admires Germany, seems to have been brought to its bearings pretty quickly, as we anticipated would be the case. It has taken quite a spirited action in regard to the internment in Germany of the Greek garrisons of the seized forts and is insisting on their due surrender and return. It appears that the Greek Government orders were deliberately disobeyed by the Commander of Kavala, when he surrendered his troops to the Germans. His orders were to embark his troops and transport them to another port. But perhaps he had no time to carry out these orders before the loaded revolver was at his head. So anxious is the new Cabinet to please the Entente that it has offered to shed its Germanophil ministers, who previously indulged in attacks on the Entente, if only the Entente will recognise it. It looks as if King Constantine, willy nilly, has had to come to heel at last.

By Divine Appointment.

The German press continues its attacks on the German Imperial Chancellor as a feeble and uncertain statesman who does not know his mind. Some of these attacks take strange forms. The "Dresdner Anzeiger," for instance produces a leading article called "Confidence" which explains the "blind" trust of the German people in its military heroes as something quite different from its attitude towards the Government. The people's confidence, it says among other things, > is a peculiar thing. There are leading men who, if one may so say, draw the people to their banners by the simple might of their qualities. Such were in old times Moses, Pericles, Alexander the Great, Julius Cæsar, Frederick Barbarossa, Wallenstein, the Great Elector, Frederick the Great, Napoleon I., Scharnhorst, Ernst Moritz Arndt, Baron von Stein, Blucher, then Bismarck, and to-day Zeppelin and Hindenburg. All these won, or are winning, absolute, blind confidence. These men are endowed by God, because the people feel and freely recognize their Divine appointment. In the case of all these men the people with a sure instinct recognized the purity of their patriotic aims, the greatness of their will, the clearness of their intentions, and the iron determination to reach an appointed goal, which once reached could afford the possibility for further hopeful development.

It is curious that the Saxon journal excludes from its list not only the Imperial Chancellor, but the Kaiser himself, hitherto the chief claimant to Divine appointment.

Lady Willingdon's Appeal.

During Lady Willingdon's recent stay in England she visited the Red Cross Gift House and the Committee there generously presented her with a very valuable painting of Miss Gladys Cooper by the well-known artist Laszlo to sell at the Great War Sale which is to be held shortly in Bombay on behalf of the funds of the Women's Branch. We understand that in return for this generous gift her Excellency is anxious to send some valuable Indian work of art carpet or embroidery as a return gift from the Bombay Presidency, which would be sold at the Great Red Cross Sale in London at Christies this coming winter. We have no doubt that there are many collectors of Indian objets d'art in the Presidency who will assist Lady Willingdon to carry out her wish. Such a gift would be an expression of a desire to help the Empire's soldiers fighting on the battlefields of Europe, and would be an expression of appreciation of the gift received from England to help forward the war work in Bombay.

Sir S. P. Sinha's Appointment.

The first thought that occurs to the mind at the news that Sir S. P. Sinha has been appointed a member of the Bengal Executive Council, is one of regret that his great services could not be again utilised in the Imperial Executive Council. But that cannot be, so long as the present bar against the presence of more than one Indian in the latter remains. Sir S. P. Sinha's acceptance of this post indicates, as the "Pioneer" says,, his readiness to make personal sacrifices,—and the financial sacrifice is immense,—in the interests of the public service. But it does not mean, as the Allahabad journal is so anxious to infer, that there is any difficulty in discovering suitable candidates for appointment in the Executive Council. No question has arisen as to the difficulty of selection and there are many other able men in Bengal available. Bengal, if it contains no man with superior qualifications and abilities to those of Sir S. P. Sinha, fortunately possesses men of equal merit and a host of men even of lesser merit who could hold their own with the civilian members of a provincial executive council.

The Lingering Monsoon.

The lingering of the monsoon beyond its usual date of closing,—which is generally the middle of this month every year,— is causing as much surprise as discomfort to the public, at least in the busy city of Bombay, who are feeling they have had enough of rain for this year. Though we are not getting a daily downpour, the heavily over-cast skies and the copious showers accompanied by high winds with which we are being favoured are far from welcome to citizens who have had to pass through a heavy rainy season such as we have had this year. The weather spoiled the Quadrangular Carnival and is playing havoc with the racing fixtures at Poona. It is proving a disturbing factor in the matter of coastal navigation also on this side of India. The total rainfall registered at the Colaba Observatory up to 8 a.m. on Friday amounted to 78.92 inches which is 12.80 inches in excess of the average. Last year the total rainfall during the same period amounted to 69.51 inches. It does not look as if the monsoon will say good-bye for a week more at least. Ordinarily, in India one never complains of too much of the monsoon in these parts, but reports are to hand that the cotton and other crops in some districts have not only had sufficient rain but are suffering through a glut of it.

No More Chits.

A Calcutta telegram stated yesterday that, with a view to restrict further the sale of liquor, the Collector of Customs has issued a circular drawing the attention of hotel and restaurant proprietors to the regulation prohibiting them from selling liquor on credit. This means that the "chit" system for drinks in the hotels and restaurants of Calcutta is to be stopped. The habit of signing for meals and for drinks, it appears, is a very deep-rooted one in Calcutta, and at the most popular places the monthly chits amount to thousands of rupees,—the sum, representing, of course, both food and drink. That the notification came as a shock to licenseholders,—many of whom apparently did not know or had forgotten that there was a condition in their license which prohibited the sale of drink on credit "as is done by the signing of chits,"—is not surprising. It can, however, go a very little way in restricting the sale of liquor or promoting abstinence during the war and is a trifle compared even with the measures taken by the Liquor Board Control in England, not to speak of the total abolition enforced in Russia and France.

Calculating the Chances.

The Zeppelins have often come and gone over London,—without achieving anything of military value or scaring the Londoners Count Reventlow the other day rebuked a German publicist for speaking of destroying London by Zeppelins, saying that, although the idea caused him no unpleasant sensation, it should not be spoken of publicly in view of the British characteristics of tenacity and stubborness. A correspondent in a Home contemporary refers to another characteristic of the British,—or, at any rate, of a large section of Londoners,—which possibly also preserves them from being scared by Zeppelin threats or Zeppelins. It would almost seem at the moment as if the vices as well as the virtues of Englishmen were coming to their aid in these times. The betting habit, we know, is one of their greatest national weaknesses and handicaps, yet, although it may sound far-fetched, there are many close observers who think that it gives the Londoner, above all citizens of the world's towns, a working idea of the laws of chance, which happens to be of use to steady his judgment of Zeppelin dangers.

At the time of the big London raid last September, when the deaths were twenty, writes the correspondent, a workman in the district was asked if he was going to move his home. He replied: "Not me. Look at the odds against them hitting me! Twenty killed out of six million—why, it's about a 300,000-to-one shot. No bookie would look at it. I will take my chances." This attitude was found to be surprisingly common among the men, their habit of calculating things in terms of odds reducing the danger to its logical proportion.

SIR S P, SINHA'S APPOINTMENT.

ALLAHABAD PRESS COMMENTS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 22.

Commenting on Sir S. P. Sinah's acceptance of membership of the Bengal Executive Council the "Pioneer" says: "It indicates Sir Satyendra's readiness to make personal sacrifice in the interests of public services and the equally significant difficulty of discovering suitable candidates for appointment in the Executive Councils."

The "Leader" says: "The ways of great men are sometimes inexplicable. The salary he will get will be insignificant as compared to what he is reputed to have been earning. Is it a case of patriotic sacrifice or of humble antonement for a past mistake?"

Official and Personal.

Their Excellencies the Governor and Lady Willingdon will arrive in Bombay on Monday morning the 25th and leave for Ganeshkind on the afternoon of the 26th September.

THE WAR.

SUMMARY OF TELEGRAMS.

ROUMANIAN VICTORY.

ENEMY RETIRING IN DOBRUDJA.

VIGOROUS FIGHTING IN MACEDONIA.

FIRM GREEK NOTE TO GERMANY.

The Russians and Roumanians have victoriously resumed the offensive in Dobrudja. The battle began on the 15th and ended on the 20th, in the defeat of the Germans and Bulgarians, who are retreating southwards.

A Roumanian force has entered Szeklyudvarkly, 50 miles north-east of Brasso in Transylvania.

The Russians everywhere repelled the enemy offensive in the region of the Kovel-Rovno railway. They captured a height in the region east of Panther Mountain in the Carpathians.

Fighting continues with unabated vigour on the Kajmackalen where the Bulgarians are making desperate efforts to wrest the peak from the Serbs. The latter have slightly added to their gains. The French left wing has reached Hill 1,550 five kilometres west of Pisoderi.

British on the Somme repulsed furious German counter-attacks and advanced their front at some points.

The French have carried trenches south-east of Thiaumont Work and made progress in Vaux Wood.

Reuter learns that the Greek note to Germany is firm and decided in tone. The Government entirely disavows the action of the Commander of the Kavalla garrison and demands that the troops shall be brought to the Swiss frontier and delivered to Greece.

It is semi-officially stated at Athens that the Allied Fleet has declared blockade from the mouth of the Nestos to the village of Chaiaghizi.

A Director-General of the Greek Foreign Office has assured the British Minister that the new Greek Cabinet is only a business Cabinet, not political. It is ready, if recognised by the Entente, to sacrifice the Germanophile members.

VICTORIOUS ROUMANIAN OFFENSIVE.

ENEMY COMPLETELY ROUTED IN DOBRUDJA.

ROUMANIAN VICTORY IN DOBRUDJA.

ENEMY CRUSHED AFTER FIVE DAYS' BATTLE.

MACKENSON RETREATING SOUTHWARDS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

BUKHAREST, Sept. 21.

A communiqué says:—An obstinate struggle continues in Dobrudja. The Russians and Roumanians have bloodily repulsed all enemy attacks on the whole front and delivered several counter-attacks. We have stopped our retirement south of Petroseny, where we are entrenching.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

BUKHAREST, Sept. 22.

The Russians and Roumanians have victoriously resumed the offensive in Dobrudja.

The battle began on the 15th and ended on the 20th, in the defeat of the Germans and Bulgarians who are retreating southwards.

LONDON, Sept. 22.

A Roumanian communiqué confirms the above message, and adds that the enemy, which included Turks, burned villages on retreat.

The battle gradually increased in fury till the evening of the 19th and the enemy was crushed on the 20th and withdrew.

The communiqué states that a Roumanian force has entered Szeklyudvarhely, 50 miles north-east of Brasso.

KAISER'S BOAST GIVEN A LIE

MENDACIOUS GERMAN COMMUNIQUES

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 22.

The Roumanian victory in Dobrudja dispels the obscurity hanging over the operations there and gives a lie to the Kaiser's recent boast of a decisive victory, which is symptomatic of the growing mendacity of German communiqués, which, hitherto, have not admitted defeat in Macedonia nor the loss of Florina.

General Averesco, the new commander in Dobrudja, arrived there on the 16th when a great battle began.

The Roumanian left wing in Transylvania has suffered a set-back, retiring from Petroheny to near the frontier, where it has taken a stand in the vicinity of the Vulcan Pass, the heights on both sides of which the enemy claims to occupy, but the Roumanians hold a fourth of Transylvania and are progressing north, as shown by the occupation of Szeklyudvarhely. Their retirement on the left is possibly due to the despatch of reinforcements to Dobrudja.

MR. ASQUITH'S LOSS.

THEIR MAJESTIES' CONDOLENCE.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 20.

The King and Queen and also Queen Alexandra and President Poincare have sent messages of condolence to Mr. Asquith on the loss of his eldest son.

THE RALLI CONTRACT.

DUNDEE JUTE SPINNERS NOT TO TAKE ACTION.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

LONDON, Sept. 20.

Dundee Jute Spinners have resolved by sixteen votes to five not to take action regarding the Ralli contract. It is understood that Government proposes to allow the manufacturers twenty pounds a ton for spinning and weaving, as the cost before war was twelve pounds, ten shillings. The terms, despite the increased expenses, are regarded as very satisfactory.

NEW CHINESE LOAN.

GERMAN BANKS NOT TO PARTICIPATE

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PEKING, Sept. 20.

The Government has asked the Group Banks, exclusive of the German, for a loan of ten millions sterling secured on the salt revenue for purposes of reorganisation. It is understood that they include the redemption of the notes of the Bank of China and disbandment of troops.

OFFENSIVE IN MACEDONIA.

FURTHER SERBIAN GAINS

ITALIANS FIGHT LIKE LIONS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

SALONIKA, Sept. 22.

Fighting continues with unabated vigour on the Kajmackalen where the Bulgarians are making desperate efforts to wrest the peak from the Serbs. The latter have slightly added to their gains.

The Bulgraians set fire to parts of Florina before evacuating the town.

The Bulgarian attack in force on the village of Poroy, east of the Doiran, was held by the Italian garrison who fought like lions.

LONDON, Sept. 21.

A British official despatch from Salonika reports no change.

SERBIANS CAPTURE HILL 262.

BULGARIANS' VERY HEAVY LOSSES.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 20.

A French official message from Salonika says that the Serbians have captured Hill 262, the highest crest of the Kaimackalan range. The Bulgarians sustained very heavy losses.

BULGARIANS' HEAVY LOSSES

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PARIS, Sept. 21.

A French official message from Salonika says:—The Serbians have repulsed a violent Bulgarian counter-attack against the Kajmackalen Crest with heavy losses.

Bulgarian attacks gained a foothold in the village of Bersenica, but the Serbians drove the enemy out with the bayonet.

Our left wing has reached Hill 1,550 five kilometres west of Pisoderi.

SERBIAN OFFENSIVE.

PLIGHT OF HUNGARY.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

ALLAHABAD, Sept. 22.

The "Pioneer's" correspondent cables:—According to a wireless press message from Rome, General Mackensen is said to have arrived at Monastir. This report if not accurate is possibly only premature, since the units which went to Dobrudja with Mackensen have appeared before the Serbs, showing that the advance into Serbia has acted as a diversion, which was one of its objectives.

Mr. Ward Price wires from Salonika that the momentary pause in the Serbs' advance is due neither to Serbian fatigue nor to the enemy's opposition. The Serbs as the pivot flank are going slowly, while the whole Serbo-Russo-French army wheels from a westward direction facing Florina to a northern facing Monastir. The railways for the present are unserviceable, the Bulgars having destroyed the bridges, but it will not take long to repair them.

AUSTRIAN TROOPS IN ITALY.

According to the "Messagero," it is estimated that of the 400,000 Austrians formerly in the Trentino, nearly half have been withdrawn. There has been an extraordinarily high percentage of Austrian officers among the prisoners recently taken. The only place where the effect of these movements of troops has been marked is on Roumania's line of advance in the Vulcan pass, towards Hatszeg, where Bucharest admits that a check has been experienced. The numbers engaged in the Trentino were bound to be reduced for the winter, but withdrawals have taken place unexpectedly early from various sectors where fighting is proceeding. At high altitudes reports of snow have already been received. The importance of this is perhaps, the greatest on the Russian southern front, where the enemy is now offering an exceptionally stubborn resistance, evidently realising that should the Russian left be established beyond the Carpathians before winter really sets in the strategy of such campaigning as is practicable in the winter months must be materially affected.

EXPORT OF PROVISIONS FOR HUNGAAY PROHIBITED.

The Hungarian newspapers state that the Government has now taken steps which will prevent a single wagon load of provisions from leaving Hungary even to Germany or Austria. Large quantities of foodstuffs had to be abandoned when the Roumanians advenced. 10.000 tons of cereals were lost at Orsova alone. The "Agenzia Libera" learns that the whole garrison at Vienna, including the Imperial Guards, has left for Hungary. The garrisons of Cracow and other towns have been reduced to the minimum.

GREEK NOTE TO GERMANY.

FIRM AND DECIDED

KAVALLA COMMANDER DISOBEYS ORDERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

ATHENS, Sept. 20.

Reuter learns that the Greek Note to Germany is firm and decided in tone. The Government entirely disavows the action of the Commander of the Kavalla garrison and demands that the troops shall be brought to the Swiss frontier and again delivered to Greece under the guarantee that they shall not be stopped or compelled to serve against the Central Powers.

The Note states that the commander at Kavalla was instructed to embark the troops and transport them and their equipment to another Greek port. It is not clear why he disregarded the orders and delivered the troops to the Germans and Bulgarians.

The Note proposes that the troops shall be conducted from Switzerland to a Mediterranean port from which they will be embarked in a Greek ship for Greece.

LATER.

The newspaper "Embros" states that Greece demanded from Germany the prompt return of the Kavala army corps with arms and munitions.

KAVALLA COMMANDER'S DISOBEDIENCE.

BORNE OUT BY BRITISH WIRELESS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

ATHENS, Sept. 20.

It is semi-officially stated that the messages of Greek Government to the commander were carried out through the medium of the wireless of the British warships and they bear out the statements as to the commander's disobedience.

ALLIES' BLOCKADE.

FROM NESTOS TO CHAIAGHIZI.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

ATHENS, Sept. 20.

It is semi-officially stated that the Allied Fleet has declared blockade from the mouth of the Nestos to the village of Chaiaghizi.

LONDON, Sept. 21.

The blockade mentioned last night includes Kavala and other Greek ports commanded by the Bulgarians.

ONLY A BUSINESS CABINET.

READY TO SACRIFICE GERMANOPHILE MINISTERS.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

ATHENS, Sept. 22.

The Director-General of the Foreign Office visited Sir F. Elliot, British Minister, and assured him that the Cabinet is only a business cabinet, not political. It is ready, if recognised by the Entente, to sacrifice the Germanophile Ministers who, before assuming portfolios, indulged in attacks on the Entente.

LIEUT. D. HENDERSON KILLED

SON OF THE LOHOUR LEADER.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 21.

Lieutenant D. Henderson, son of the Cabinet Minister, has been killed in action.

CONFERENCE AT GENERAL HEADQUARTERS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

LAHORE, Sept. 22.

A "Civil and Military Gazette" cable says:—

A "Central News" telegram from Hague says many men from Chemnitz have been killed on the Somme and a procession in streets on Saturday sang "Internationale" and refused to disperse. The Hussars and infantry attacked the crowd and killed 40 and arrested 500.

The "Central News" Zurich correspondent says it is reported that the Kaiser has summoned Herr Von Bethmann-Hollweg and General Ludendorf back to the General Headquarters.

There is a shortage of sugar in Switzerland. It is stated that Austria is holding up 3,000 trucks which were paid for in March 1915, demanding compensation.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN PICARDY.

GERMAN COUNTER-ATTACKS REPULSED.

BRITISH FRONT ADVANCED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

LONDON, Sept. 21.

A communiqué from General Haig this afternoon says:—There was heavy rain during the night, in which the enemy continuously counter-attacked the New Zealanders. The Germans were repulsed with severe losses to the enemy. A large number of dead were left in front of our lines. Notwithstanding this heavy fighting we advanced our front in this neighbourhood. We entered enemy trenches on other portions of the front during night-time.

FRENCH ADVANCE ON THE MEUSE.

TRENCHES SOUTH-EAST OF THIAUMONT WORK CARRIED.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM.)

PARIS, Sept. 21.

This afternoon's communiqué says:—Bad weather interferes considerably with the operations on the Somme.

An enemy attack on Four-de-paris in the Argonne was repulsed.

We carried trenches south-east of Thiaumont Work and made progress in Vaux Wood.

ENERGETIC ARTILLERY ACTIVITY.

(REUTER'S TELEGRAM)

PARIS, Sept. 22.

A communiqué says:—On the Somme front artillery continued energetically to fire on the enemy's works. There was an intermittent cannonade elsewhere.

GERMANS AFRAID OF TANKS.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

PARIS, Sept. 21.

The anxiety felt by the Germans on the Somme, is revealed by a captured private order from the Chief of the Staff of a group of armies to commanders. It refers particularly to tanks, and says, "the new engines of war are equally cruel as effective. It is urgent to take all possible measures to counteract these monstrous engines."

THURSDAY'S GREAT COUNTER ATTACK.

NEW CORPS SUFFERS ENORMOUSLY.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 22.

A Paris communiqué says:—Yesterday's great German counter-attack on the north bank was delivered by the eighteenth corps withdrawn from the Aisne and the 214th division. NEW COMBING OUT SCHEME.

(REUTER'S SPECIAL WAR SERVICE.)

LONDON, Sept. 20.

Although there has been a steady stream of recruits for months past and there is no anxiety as to the immediate future, it is understood that the War Office, in view of the necessity of keeping up the strength with a view to a campaign in 1917, is considering combing out eligible men in certified occupations. This is considered a most promising field.

The papers state that the Premier will shortly appoint a Committee with Mr. Chamberlain as Chairman to comb out eligible men in Government and other offices. An official return shows that there were 51,232 eligible men in various offices in April. "The Times" military correspondent asserts that there are three to four million young men in civil occupations.

HIGH COURT.

APPELLATE SIDE.

TRANSFER OF SHARES.

DIRECTORS' DISCRETION ABSOLUTE.

(Before Justices Batchelor and Shah.)

SHAH MANILAL BRIJLAL v. THE GORDHAN SPINNING AND MANUFACTURING COMPANY LTD.

This was an appeal against the decision of Mr. B. C. Kennedy, District Judge of Ahmedabad.

This is an appeal from a decision of the the following judgment of his Lordship Justice Batchelor.

Justice Batchelor said:—

"This is an appeal from a decision of the District Judge of Ahmedabad upon an application made under section 38 of the Indian Companies Act VII of 1913. The only facts which it is necessary to state are these. The 5 shares in controversy were originally owned by one Dosabhai. A decree against him was obtained by one Balmukund and in execution of that decree these five shares were sold by the Court. They were purchased by the present applicant. As the judgment debtor Dosabhai was unwilling to execute the transfer deed in favour of the applicant the deed was executed by the Court. In these circumstances the applicant claims that he is entitled as of right to have his name placed on the Register. The directors have refused to register the transfer and the learned District Judge has decided against the applicant, who consequently brings the present appeal.

COMPETENCY OF APPEAL.

The learned Advocate-General takes a preliminary point that under S. 38 of the Act the appeal is not competent. The objection is put in two ways. First, it is said that the proviso which occurs at the end of the section must be connected to the 3rd clause of the section. Mr. Jardine admits that upon this point we have nothing to guide us but the passing of the section and the setting in which the proviso is placed. It appears to me that these circumstances constitute too slight and uncertain a ground for the inference which is sought, and I am of opinion following the decision in 26. Cal. 944 that the proviso should not be confined to the last clause of the section, but must be read as a general reservation imposed on all the clauses.

Secondly, it was contended that the appeal does not lie because the conditions under which alone an appeal is granted under this section are not in this case satisfied. Now the conditions precedent to the existence of an appeal are that the lower Court should have directed an issue to be tried in which some question of law was raised and that that court should have come to a decision on such issue. The Advocate-General contends that no such issue was in this case directed to be tried and consequently, that there is no decision of the kind from which alone an appeal under the proviso is sanctioned. Speaking for myself, I think, that there is great force in this argument and I am very doubtful whether strictly and as of right this appeal is competent. I think that the appeal is certainly not rendered competent merely by reason of the circumstances that there occurs in the lower Court's judgment a passage in which the learned Judge sets out the nature of the question before him and that it is possible to regard that question as a question of law. It is clear that in every application made to the Court there must be some question or other for the Court's decision and I cannot concede that when that question is capable of being regarded as a question of law, nothing more is needed for the admissibility of an appeal. On the contrary, I think that if an appeal is to be admitted there must be a specific issue of law directed by the Court to be raised and directed with some advertence to the terms of this proviso. That has not been done in the present case and if the matter rested there, I should be inclined to say that the appeal did not lie. But it has been conceded before us that in the past the practice in those matters has been to this extent lax that wheresoever, an appellate Court could seem to discern a question of law in the judgment of the lower Court, an appeal has always been allowed, even though no specific issue had been directed to the point. In this state of circumstances, rather than allow the present appellant to be prejudiced by the laxity of procedure in the past, I am prepared to admit the appeal and consider it on its merits.

DIRECTORS' POWER TO TRANSFER.

Now on the merits the simple question involved is whether the appellant is entitled to claim that the Directors shall register his transfer and is so entitled by reason of the fact that he is a purchaser at a court-sale and not a private purchaser. For admittedly, if he were a private purchaser, he would not be entitled to throw any such obligation upon the Directors. It is urged that his position in this respect is substantially improved, because he is a court-purchaser. But after all the argument which we have heard from Mr. Thakore, I am unable to see in what respect his position is materially altered or improved by the circumstance that he purchased at a court-sale. It may be that when the directors refuse to approve a transfer after a court-sale in execution, there may ensue inconveniences in practice. But similar inconveniences will also ensue when a private purchaser's transfer is refused to be accepted by the Directors acting within the limits of their discretion. For the purposes of this argument, we must, of course, assume that the Directors would be within their powers in refusing to register the present appellant, if he were a private purchaser and not a court-purchaser. Upon that assumption, I can see no reason why the Directors' powers should be curtailed merely because the appellant purchased at a court-sale. For whether the sale is made by a private individual or by a Court, it seems to me clear that the thing sold and transferred from the seller to the buyer is merely the property in the share plus a limited, not an absolute, right to have the transfer registered. But the appellant here contends and must contend that when he purchased from the Court he purchased over and above the share, the absolute right of forcing the Directors to register his name. But that is a right which ex hypothesi the Court never had to sell. I infer that the appellant never bought it. This conclusion seems to me to be reinforced by the consideration namely that upon the case for the appellant nothing would be easier than to over-ride that part of the memorandum of association which invests the Directors with a discretion to refuse to admit undesirable candidates. For if the appellant is right, then a person whose professed object might be to wreck or damage the company could nevertheless oust the Directors' discretion and compell them to register him, by the simple process of purchasing through the Court after a collusive decree. On these grounds, I am of opinion that the Directors were justified in their refusal. The appeal fails and should be dismissed with costs."

Mr. G. N. Thakore appeared for the appellant.

The Hon. the Advocate-General with Diwan Bahadur G. S. Rao appeared for the respondent.

Lieut. F. S. Wilding, New Zealand Artillery, who has been gazetted an aide-de-camp on the personal staff, is a brother of the late Anthony Wilding, the famous lawn tennis player.

ILLICIT OPIUM TRAFEIC

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

NAGPUR, Sept. 22.

The Excise Department has for some time past been trying to run to ground an organised gang of opium smugglers, who are suspected of carrying on their trade with Burma, via Calcutta. One Abdulla was arrested and charged before the City Magistrate to-day with being in possession of ten seers of opium. The Magistrate convicted and sentenced the accused to six months' rigorous imprisonment. More arrests are expected.

AGRICULTURE IN THE DECCAN.

HIS EXCELLENCY ON SUB-DIVISION OF HOLDINGS.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

POONA, Sept. 22.

His Excellency Lord Willingdon occupied the chair at the seventh annual meeting of the Deccan Agricultural Association which was held this evening in the Council Hall. Among those present were: The Hon. Mr. Chaubal, the Hon. Sir P. Pattani, the Chief of Ichalkaranji, Mr and Mrs. Keatinge, Sardar Kaikobad Dastur and Mrs. Dastur and Mr. Seddon, Commissioner, C.D.

The Hon. Mr. Kamat, Joint Hon. Secretary of the Association, opened the proceedings by reading the annual report which gave a short account of the work accomplished. The aims and objects of the Association are to stimulate interest in the development of agriculture and to awaken active movement for the adoption by agricultural classes of improved methods. The report spoke of publication work conducted in the shape of the association's magazine "Shetki and Shetkari" and the work done by travelling organisers. It hoped that the Chiefs, Sardars and landholders of Deccan would be able to extend still further support to the Association. Dr. Harold Mann then delivered an interesting address on the economics of a Deccan village.

His Excellency the Governor in bringing the proceedings to a close, said his remarks would be extremely brief and would be confined to expressing his thanks and those of all present to Dr. Mann for his interesting lecture. Dr. Mann was one of those whose enthusiasm and zeal in whatever he undertook, ought to be an example to great many of them. His Excellency confessed that as the speaker's remarks on the economy of what constituted a typical dry Deccan village, proceeded he felt more and more depressed until the lecturer left them at last with the village completely bankrupt. But they would leave it to Dr. Mann in his second volume to get them out of the difficulty (laughter). His Excellency spoke of the conservatism of the people which they had to deal with in this country and the tendency which existed to say, "We have the Government and it is its duty to help us." Here was a great opportunity for the Deccan Agricultural Association to do what it could to improve the condition of agricultural holdings. It seemed to him very unwise for Government to take any steps that might in any way conflict with the established usages of the people in the matter of sub-division of holdings. Any improvement that was to be effected in the direction must be left to this Association to bring about and to people themselves. But his Excellency said, he would like to know whether the Chiefs, Sardars and large landholders were supporting agriculture in every possible way. He hoped the people would try and stimulate interest in agriculture. In this connection his Excellency said he would have liked to see a list of the subscribers of the Association added to the annual report. He doubted if even the president paid his subscription. As the head of the Government he would say that the Government would do all that it could for agriculture and in this connection it was anxious to secure the help and assistance of all right minded citizens in seconding its efforts.

DEPORTATION CASE.

COMMISSIONER OF POLICE EXAMINED.

TUSSLE WITH COUNSEL.

"DEFENCE AN AFTERTHOUGHT."

The Fourth Presidency, Magistrate at Mazagaon, yesterday resumed the hearing of the case in which Allarkhia Abba charged Inspector Mahomed Hussein Taki, of the C.I.D., with wrongful restraint, wrongful confinement and abetment.

Mr. Weldon, instructed by Mr. C. N. Kanuga and Mr. K. F. Nariman, appeared for the complainant while Mr. T. J. Strangman, instructed by Mr. Nicholson, Government Solicitor, represented the accused.

Mr. F. A. M. Vincent, Commissioner of Police, deposed that he had heard from Mr. Griffiths that the complainant was agreeable to go to Kodai in Cutch. This was in July. On August 23rd, witness had a long, rambling discussion with complainant in the course of which mention was made of Cutch and the complainant never hinted that he would not go to Cutch. He left witness under the impression that he would go to Cutch. The complainant asked for time in which to remove himself and witness told him that he must leave by the evening of the 26th. August. On that day at about 10 p.m. witness got a telephone message from Mr. Griffiths saying that the complainant had not started for Cutch. Thereupon witness and Mr. Griffiths had some conversation and witness directed that complainant, should be locked up at the Nagpada station.

On Sunday the 27th witness received a communication from Government relating to complainant but not relating, to his arrest. It must have left Poona before complainant's arrest. As a consequence of that communication witness directed the liberation of complainant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Weldon: Witness did not order complainant to go to Cutch. He selected Cutch and witness agreed to that.

Did you order him to go to Cutch?—He selected Cutch and I agreed.

Did you or anybody in your department order him to go to Cutch?—When he said he would go to Cutch I agreed.

Mr. Weldon (to the Magistrate):—I have put the question three times to the witness and I have not yet received a satisfactory answer.

The Magistrate then took down the question and witness answered as follows:—He asked to go to Ajmere and I said he cannot go to Ajmere. Then he selected Cutch and I agreed.

There were three reasons for which witness gave the order for locking up complainant. Firstly, his refusal to go to Cutch; secondly, his intention to go to Ajmere; and thirdly, his contumacious and obdurate attitude.

Did you instruct Mr. Sullivan to appear at the argument of the notice?—Yes. Witness added that Mr. Sullivan was not then in possession of the fact that action was taken under Rule 15.

During the cross-examination of the witness some discussion arose as to whether the reporters should be allowed to report portions of the evidence which the Commissioner told the Magistrate were matters of a confidential nature, the publication of which was forbidden under the Defence of India Consolidation Act. The Magistrate said such matters should not be reported.

General W. C. Knight said that as G. O. C., he was an officer engaged in defence of the coast. The Commissioner of Police was an officer engaged in defence of the coast.

Mr Strangman then addressed the Court.

Mr. Vincent recalled by the Court [illegible] his reasons for believing that complainant was acting or about to act in a manner prejudicial to the public safety were: The order of Government which said he had acted in a manner prejudicial to the public safety. The fact that the order was issued subsequent to witness' refusal to allow the complainant to go to Ajmere and also subsequent to witness acquiesing in complainant going to Kodai. His reasons for refusing to let complainant go to Ajmere and agreeing to his going to Kodai were based on a number of facts and inferences.

Mr. Weldon then addressed the Court. He said it was conceded by the other side that if the order was unlawful then there was no defence to the act of the accused. He contended that the order was unlawful. The defence was an after-thought. Nothing was mentioned about Rule 15 at the argument of the notice against Jemadar Rahat Yar Khan. The rule was not applicable to this case.

The Magistrate said he would deliver judgment on Monday the 2nd.

Before nearly 4,000 people at the Central politan Gymnasium, Plymouth, Tom Mack (Bermondsey) and Lippo (Plymouth) feather-weight champion of the West of England, met in a contest of fifteen rounds at the light-weight limit. A fierce and stubborn fight resulted. Lippo was the aggressor at the start, boring in with his drives and crossing his right to the body and face in a fashion which showed he had made up his mind to put an early end to the affair. Mack, with plenty of "stamina" behind his blows, boxed in much [illegible] fashion and the result of a fine contest was a draw.

AHMEDABAD MUNICIPALITY.

To The Editor of "The Chronicle."

Sir,—I shall feel obliged if you would kindly let me place before the public through your widely read columns certain facts about Ahmedabad Municipal affairs which deserve notice.

1. The Ahmedabad Municipality was superseded by G-R No. 2210 dated 11th May 1910. A Committee of management was appointed; and the Municipal affairs were managed more or less as a Government Department for five years. The assessments of houses were revised and the water-rate was doubled. The Octroi was superseded by a Terminal Tax. In spite of it, the Sanitation and Conservancy arrangements were not improved. The Committee of Management consented to have a Municipal Commissioner; and thereafter the franchise was restored to the Corporation which assumed the Municipal Government since 1st April, 1915.

2. Mr. J. Monteath was appointed Municipal Commissioner from the same date for a period of three years but he was transferred within six months; and Mr. J. Shillidy has been posted from Hyderabad as Municipal Commissioner, Ahmedabad.

3. From the proceedings of the Corporation as reported from time to time in the local weeklies, one is led to believe that, looking to the financial straits of the Municipality, the Corporation meets the ever-increasing demands of the Commissioner with sufficient liberality; but the Sanitation and Conservancy of the Town does not appear to show signs of improvement. It is no use attending to the main roads only, leaving the streets and bye-lanes in a filthy condition. As a matter of fact neither the one nor the other have been cared for by the Municipal Commissioner, in spite of his thirst for unlimited powers.

4. The patch-work of amendments introduced in the District Municipal Act to provide for the powers, duties and functions of the Municipal Commissioner in 1914, is a veritable muddle. The powers of the President in an ordinary Municipality are also vested in the Municipal Commissioner, and with a Commissioner ambitious of powers a clash with the Corporation and Committees is likely to take place

5. The details of the duties and functions solely left to the Municipal Commissioner are very extensive; and his information being not as extensive as his powers and his capacity to attending to them being limited he is obliged to leave much to be done by subordinates who, in reality become the masters. He rather serves to them as a cover to their shortcomings; and the plea of prestige sums up the rest.

6. The Municipal Commissioner does not seem to be content, however, with his executive powers, and has of late been trespassing upon the deliberative freedom of the Corporation as disclosed by the incidents connected with the appointment for the Engineer's Post.

7. The Municipality lately revised the salary of the Engineer's Post from Rs. 175 fixed by the Committee of Management to Rs. 750 rising to Rs. 1,000 as recommended by the Municipal Commissioner.

8. There were three candidates out of several whose names came before the Corporation for acceptance. One was Mr A G. Patel, L.C.E. (Bom.). B.Sc. (Civil Engineering, London) A.M.I.C.E., G.I.E.E., who as a Government of India Scholar had his training in England. The second was Mr. D. K. Bhave, L.C.E. (Bom.). M.A.B. Sc. (Civil Engineering, Edinburgh), A.M.I.C.E., an equally qualified Indian engineer. The third was Mr. Macassey, A.M.I.C.E., who was a temporary engineer on the G. I. P. Railway, and whose term of employment was expiring in August last. Their ages ranged from 26 to 33.

9. On the question coming up before the Corporation, one Councillor asked the President if the Municipal Commissioner was not actually canvassing for an European candidate; and the reply returned was that he was only discussing the merits and demerits of candidates with councillors. The voting disclosed that there was a majority of one for Mr. Macassey and he was declared elected by 20 against 19 votes. It appears that all the 13 nominated Councillors had to vote for him; and seven out of 27 elected Councillors were also won over It is notoworthy that out of the two Indian engineers who were thus rejected. Mr. Bhave has since been taken up by the Bombay Municipal Corporation.

10. It transpired subsequently that the Municipal Commissioner had written note to nominated and some elected Councillors about the business at the engineer's meeting; and on questions being put about it the Municipal Commissioner declined to answer them.

11. Some Councillors immediately sent up a requisition for the reconsideration of the question; but the Municipal Commissioner, after knowing of the receipt of the requisition wired to Mr. Macassey to come and take charge of his appointment at once; and he seems to have purposely created complications by giving him the charge, because under Section 182 of the District Municipal Act, an engineer could not be removed except by the vote of three-fourth of the total number of Councillors. If his appointment is cancelled, and if Mr. Macassey files a suit, is not the Municipal Commissioner responsible to give damages to him from his own pocket?

12. Rule 237 of the Ahmedabad Municipal Rules requires that the engineer must be a graduate in Civil Engineering. Mr. Macassey has not gone through any academical course in any college and has not been thereafter admitted to any academical degree of a graduate. An Associate Member of the Institute of Civil Engineers is not a graduate; and he was not qualified for the appointment. Again, he is not a mechanical engineer which the revised salary required as a necessary condition. The mischief created by the canvassing of the Municipal Commissioner and his subsequent action in wiring to him to hasten up and in giving him the charge after knowing of the requisition, discovers his partisanship, and his unfitness to work in a straightforward manner.

13. By giving over charge to the new engineer before the old engineer's appointment terminated he has put himself in the questionable position of retaining two engineers simultaneously when the municipal schedule provides for one only. This is an audit objection; but how can one expect the Accountant who is his subordinate to raise an audit objection against his chief? It seems, the Municipal Commissioner does not like to have an auditor who is not his servant. If Government were ever pleased to have a thorough audit since April 1915, the Municipal Commissioner would perhaps find himself in the predicament of the councillors of the Kaira Municipality.

14. The Municipality and the Councillors, as well as the Municipal Commissioner, have been served with notices of a suit for the appointment on the ground that it is ultra-vires and illegal and that it would be a misapplication of municipal funds to disburse the salary in question.

15 Such is the use that is being made of his extensive powers by the Municipal Commissioner, Ahmedabad. The conditions under which the Municipal Commissioner for Bombay has to work are quite different from those that exist in the moffusil. There the gentleman selected is a fairly senior hand, in age as well as in experience, and he has to work under the gaze and check of several daily papers. Here on the other hand we have a junior officer who is neither sobered by age nor experience; and there are no daily papers to act as searchlights. At the headquarters of the Presidency public opinion is in prominence and there are less temptations to ignore it. In the Moffusil the ratepayers grumble but are hardly articulate; and the youthful blood of a moffusil Municipal Commissioner gets rather impatient of differences of opinion. One can well guess what mischief and misrepresentation are likely to result under these circumstances when a junior officer, apt to regard himself as omniscient and infallible, has opportunities to create one-sided impressions about municipal matters in the official atmosphere, and there are no daily papers to report the proceedings of moffusil corporations to present the truth. What real good is likely to come to the ratepayers when the Corporation is understood to exist only to vote taxes, and a Junior Assistant Collector is to have a blank card to do as pleases his fancy and his fads without control?—Yours, etc.,

SPECIAL CONSTABLE'S RECORD.

A year ago "The Times" published the record of Mr. D. Maynard Taylor, who had been on duty 364 days out of the 365 of the first year of his joining the Special Constabulary.

It now learns that he has beaten his own record, as he has not missed a single day in his second year, which means (this being Leap Year) that he has been on duty on 366 consecutive days, with an average of five hours a day not including "emergency calls." He is now chief inspector of the Banstead Sub-Division of the Metropolitan Special Constabulary, W. Division, having gone through the grades of constable, sergeant, and sub-inspector since joining the Force. Within three months he will enter on the 70th year of his age.

Lance-Corpl. A. E. Wills, ex-holder of the one hour cycle record of the world, is a despatch rider with the Army Service Corps (Motor Transport) on the Greek front.

GERMAN SHIPPING.

PLANS FOR AFTER-WAR ACTIVITY.

None of the German shipping companies has issued a balance-sheet since the outbreak of the war, but a general report has just been published by the North German Lloyd. It is mentioned that in June, 1914, the total German merchant fleet amounted to 2,090 steamers, having an aggregate tonnage of 5,134,720, and that the Austro-Hungarian merchant fleet amounted to 433 steamers, having a total tonnage of 1,052,346. The corresponding figures for June, 1916, are given as—Germany, steamers, 1,708; total tonnage, 3,890,542; Austria-Hungary steamers, 385; total tonnage, 891,103. The decrease is attributed to the fact that at the outbreak of hostilities a great number of German and Austrian boats were in enemy ports. It is stated that these have been taken over by the respective Governments and are being run by them under new names. The number of large boats so taken over by the Portuguese authorities is given as 63.

It is admitted in the report that all the shipping companies of the Central Powers have sustained heavy losses owing to the impossibility of conducting any trade, but some consolation is derived from the idea that the ships laid up in neutral ports are appreciating in value, whilst the fleets of both enemy and neutral countries are diminishing owing to losses by mines and torpedoes. The possession of a comparatively uninjured fleet by the Central Powers will, it is asserted, enable manufacturers there to compete effectively in the world's markets immediately peace again prevails. It is stated that German shipping companies are anxious to bring their tonnage to the pre-war level, and, if possible, above it, and evidence of he efforts being made in this direction is said to be afforded by the great activity in the construction of merchant ships now prevailing in the German yards.

Whether the German companies will be sufficiently strong after the war to compete successfully with foreign concerns which are now reaping such enormous profits depends, the report says, on whether the German mercantile marine is sufficiently subsidised when the war is over. The subsidy, it is stated, will have to be large enough to cover the heavy losses sustained during the war, and also, to enable them to tide over the difficulties which will face them for some time after. It is also asserted that no terms of peace can be tolerated which will prevent Germany having full commercial intercourse with all countries of the world.

COMPLAINTS OF SOLDIERS AT POONA.

To the Editor of the "Chronicle."

Sir,—I am writing on behalf of the troops that are back from Mesopotamia, wounded and sick, who are now stationed at the Convelescent Section, Poona. I beg to ask, Sir, why these men are being treated differently from the troops that have been in this country since the war began. I fail to understand why these fighting soldiers are made to work six days out of the seven, when Thursday is a general holiday for the troops in this country. Here are the men doing the work of navvies, road making, pushing heavy loads about the square from one place to another, which myself I think is too much for them. These men have already done their share of this sort of work, without doing it while they are convalescent. Another thing the men are keen to know Sir, why are the men having stoppages taken from their pay while they are at this Convalescent Depot. If it is for messing, it's a shame, because they are not getting the best of food. I have spoken to a good many of the men, and they have told me, that very often the food which is served up they cannot eat. This means to say they have to go to the coffee shop and buy their own food. This sort of thing must be stopped or it may go too far. The men are getting very little money while they are convalescent. Many have tried to get an advance of pay which is due to them, but cannot do so. I would very much like to know why it cannot be done. I was talking to a man the other day, and he told me he would rather be back in Mesopotamia than remain at the Convalescent another month.

I hope Sir, you will do me a favour by publishing this letter, so as to open the eyes of those responsible for the care of the men at the British Convalescent Section.—Yours, etc.,

BATTLE FOR THIEPVAL.

A VIVID STORY OF EYE-WITNESS.

THE LAST GREAT ADVANCE.

SCENE OF THE FIGHTING.

Writing from British Headquarters on Aug. 22, "The Times" special correspondent says:

We still go forward and in the last 36 hours, have made important gains at very little cost. There is no possible doubt that, apart from his loss of ground, the enemy's casualties in these last days' fighting have been much heavier than ours.

It has been bright but cool weather, excellent for fighting and for observation, and we have made good use of it. Our chief advances have been made due northward towards Thiepval, and, also northward, above Pozieres.

Some 1,300 yards or so below Thiepval there has been a strong salient in the German front line, at the extreme point of which we have, since July 1, held a small post at and about what is known as the Leipzig Redoubt. I told at the time the story of how we bit this corner off the German trench system, and have several times since referred to the fact that we held it.

From here, from its general north and south direction, the German front line turns suddenly due east for 800 yards or so. In the course of the recent fighting we have worked up from below, due north from Ovillers-La Boiselle, until we had come to the corner of this salient. By a most dashing attack last evening, following what I believe to have been the most intense bombardment of a small area that this battle has seen, we captured the German front line along all the lower face of the salient to a depth of between 300 and 400 yards. The isolated position at the Leipzig Redoubt, then, is isolated on this side no longer, but is part of our general positions.

Further to the east we have also pushed out till we are immediately adjoining Mouquet Farm, and we hold the ground for half a mile to the right of that. Two days ago I spoke of the Australians as being at the Quarry, close by here, but I was unable at the time to say whether they actually had a post in the Quarry itself. They have, and apparently they did have at that moment.

Altogether, the situation is extremely good; and, from what I see and hear from the men themselves, never has our Army been in better spirits or more full of fight and determination than it is to-day.

AN ENTHRALLING SPECTACLE.

It was my good fortune to be present at the fighting below Thiepval and to see it under the most advantageous condition possible. It was quite the most wonderful spectacle that I have seen in this war—a thing to which no description can do justice and thrilling beyond anything in my experience. Bombardments there have been over a much larger front and attacks on a far grander scale. Nothing, however, has been more intense; nor has it been possible to see former battles from so close at hand.

Well hidden ourselves from the enemy's view, we lay in holes, and near us was a narrow spur of ragged trees which was once a wood. Immediately on the further edge of these remnants of trees ran our first line trench, from which our attack was to be delivered, and, from 300 to 400 yards beyond, running directly across our line of vision on the opposing slope, were the German lines along the lower side of the salient; the front line, against which the first assault must fling itself, another line beyond, and in between the dimly marked wavering courses of communication trenches.

It was all as plain as if you looked out on your own grounds. In the sunlight of a perfect summer evening each detail of the ragged trees and the bare slope beyond, brown, with jagged yellowish lines and all pitted with shell craters, and here and there patches and belts of green where some sickly grass still grew, was beautifully distinct. Straight ahead of us, beyond the top of the slope, another fringe of blasted tree trunks, with a few shattered branches, showed where Thiepval lay out of sight.

The attack had been fixed for a time near 6 o'clock, and, starting early in the afternoon, we were ensconced in our hiding places well before that time, so that we had leisure to familiarize ourselves with every detail of the field of battle. A young officer crouched by my side who knew the country like a map of his own drawing. From a battery some miles behind us our guns were dropping great 9.2 shells methodically into the enemy's trenches just in front. About one shot in three fell full in the front-line trench. Half of the rest hit fairly the communication trench which ran back from it. It was pretty shooting, closer on its target from three miles away than the average man would get with a cricket ball from 30 yards.

Other guns of various sizes spoke at intervals, great spurts of sand and smoke, brown and grey-black intermingled, flinging up into the air now here, now there, from all over the slope in front of us, with sudden explosions of white shrapnel smoke in the air suddenly blotting out a bit of the view. Nearer, even to right and left behind us, was the occasional cr-r-r-rump of the enemy's big shells as they burst. But all this was no more than what happens all the time along all this front, by night and day. It was "quiet," with no hint of anything extraordinary about to happen.

TORNADO OF BRITISH SHELLS.

The young officer and I had found that our families were acquainted, and, in the intervals, we talked of things at home—of Cheltenham and cricket and India and Westminster School—always with our minds half occupied with thoughts of the passing minutes, when suddenly, even as we looked at our watches, it began.

I have said already that no description can do justice to it. One could hardly set one's self to describe the end of the world. In the course of my life I have seen many gigantic things, like typhoons and prairie fires and forest fires and most of the great volcanoes of the world, and some battles, and the fall of Antwerp. But merely as a spectacle, for the splendour and the power of it, I doubt if anything ever resembled what went on then for the next 20 minutes. The young officer beside me sat muttering "Oh, my God! Oh, my God!" For me, I wished to shriek, to bite my fingers, to do I know not what. And all one could do was to drum one's heels on the ground and gasp.

How many guns we had at work I do not know, and could not tell if I knew. Hundreds—thousands—millions—I do not know. But they began all at once, breaking suddenly on the sunlit silence. In 10 seconds hundreds of shells had plunged upon that one devoted spot of earth. In 20 seconds it seemed that there must have been thousand hurricanes, whirlwinds, thunderstorms, and gigantic conflagrations. Bring them all together and concentrate them all in a ring of a few acres, and you will have only a suggestion of what went on immediately before our eyes. One almost sobbed from sheer exaltation; for the over-mastering sensation was astonishment at the power of it—at the power of British artillery and the splendour of its accuracy. I do not think that one shell dropped three yards on this side of the German trenches; and I do not think there was one stretch of 10 square yards on and beyond the trenches, over all the area attacked, on which a dozen shells did not fall in as many seconds.

Of course it was a small area. We could concentrate here on less than 1,000 yards the guns which ordinarily have charge of miles of enemy front. So terrific was it that, above all the roar of the explosions, the sound of the shells passing overhead filled the ears with a shrieking louder than any wind. As for the ground where the shells fell, it simply was not. Rent and torn in every direction, it heaved itself into the air, not in spurts or bursts, but universally in one great dust-storm. There was no ground, no trench, no brown earth or green; nothing but chaos, swirling and incredible, until the smoke grew and blotted even chaos out.

OVER THE PARAPET.

Then our front trench sprang to life. Pouring over the parapets and scrambling as best they could across the uneven, shell-pitted expanse of No Man's Land, the khaki figures streamed, not in disorder, but fairly evenly spaced, thin wave behind thin wave. No veterans (but these men are veterans now) could possibly have been steadier and more eager than these troops.

From the right-hand end of the trench the men leaped and headed straight across the open, gently rising ground. On the left, just beyond the ragged trees where the width of No Man's Land was greater, there was a narrow strip of dead ground, low and sheltered from view from the enemy's lines, but beyond this our men must be dreadfully conspicuous, not only from straight ahead, but from all sides. We saw the khaki figures go over that belt of dead ground and out to where it seemed that it must be certain death.

No man can run very fast with his rifle and equipment and the bombs and other impedimenta which he carries, even on level ground. But when the ground is seamed and scarred with shell holes, the difficulty of progress is multiplied. So it always seems that our men go forward slowly, and only by a miracle, it appeared, could those dotted figures, going so brazenly in the sunshine, ever hope to win across. But the miracle came to pass. One man only I saw suddenly straighten himself out and then pitch full length on his right side. The others never checked or wavered, but went straight on, while the single figure lay there and tossed its arms.

Along all the rest of the line of the attack I saw not another man fall. Others must have fallen, because almost immediately Red Cross parties were at work, and when one had time to look closely one saw that there were other figures, which did not even toss their arms, dotting the open slope. But the losses were almost incredibly small, as if the men had indeed been miraculously shielded.

The fact was that along the section of the enemy trenches, under the whirlwind of our fire, it was impossible for any man to oppose us. It was impossible for any man above ground to live. And from elsewhere the dreadful bank of smoke and heaving earth shut out all vision, leaving it clear only on our side. We, indeed, could see each detail, and with never a hesitation, each man striving only to get most directly to his objective, the irregular, snaky line went on. On the left, in the centre, and on the right the men, already in the margin of the smoke, reached the enemy's trenches and—scrambling, jumping, climbing—they were on the parapets. There, in the haze, they loomed up heroically. You could see an officer directing his men with outstretched arm (just as they do it in pictures), and the others—in their steel helmets curiously suggestive of firemen clambering among the fumes of a burning building—running along the trenches' edge or dropping down and disappearing.

ENEMY SURRENDERS.

From the left, as our men came up, other figures came out of the trench—one, two, three—and they set themselves to run diagonally away across the open ground beyond. We saw some of our men bring their rifles up and fire, but in the density of the smoke beyond it was impossible to see what happened.

Hardly had the first of our men jumped into the trench when other of the enemy began to appear. They did not run away, however, these; but they came towards us, and each had both hands high above his head. They came running, and, as they did so, lifting their feet high to avoid the unevennesses of the ground and bits of wire and things, they seemed to skip ridiculously. The first bunch to issue came from towards the left of the attack, and there were something over 20 in the party. Then, from further along, came a smaller party of seven or eight. Then further, again, another party of about a score. Then stragglers in twos and threes; and they all came down towards us holding their hands up high and skipping and making all speed they could, only intent on getting away from that hideous trench as fast as might be.

All these things happened while the noise went on without abatement or interruption. Every gun that we had was still at work; but from the front German trench they had lifted to the trench beyond, and from that they pushed on again to the support lines in the rear. As they lifted, our men also swept on. One saw them go on, over the parados of the first line and out beyond, but there the haze swallowed them up as it had swallowed the first fleeing Germans.

All t is is only a stammering attempt to describe the indescribable. Even if the noise and the horror and the glory of it did not rob one of half one's senses, its mere magnitude as a spectacle was beyond the reach of words. And, what is most important, it was, as a military operation, immensely successful.

THE GERMAN LOSSES.

In the whole attack, as we now know, we lost, including the lightest casualties, less than 100 men. We took twice that number of prisoners alone and more than twice the number of German dead were in the trenches.

The enemy's losses, then, in killed and prisoners alone were about five times our total casualties, including even the lightest flesh wound. If their wounded were no more than equal to their killed and missing—a most improbable thing—their losses were ten times as big as ours. Nor does this make any allowance for what may have been done—and it must have been much—by our artillery fire when it lifted to beyond the trenches which we took. Later, moreover, the enemy were seen massing for a counter-attack, and they were broken up and scattered by our guns. It can only have been the utterness of the defeat and the demoralization which followed which has prevented the enemy, up till now, from making any semblance of an attempt to regain the ground we won. It is important ground; and we have been in possession now for 24 hours.

One explanation of the heavy German losses is contained in the fact that we seem to have caught them while a relief was going on, as we learn from the prisoners. There would, therefore, be double the usual number of men in the trenches, the new men having just come in and the others not yet got out. And, if so, it was hard on those who had only been there a few minutes.

Some of the prisoners taken were troops which had recently been at Verdun, and they declare that the worst at Verdun was heaven compared to the Somme. We have heard the same thing before, and I believe that, from the German point of view, it is true. From the beginning of this battle the Germans have been subjected to the hammering of an artillery definitely superior to their own. The openness of the country and its exposure combine with the smallness of the theatre to make the effect of that artillery terrific. I doubt whether at Verdun, or anywhere else, on this front or any other front, has such a concentration of guns been brought to bear on such an area as in this affair last night. It was a full and excellent reply to the German statement that the British offensive is dead.

WARWICKS' BRILLIANT WORK.

In my dispatch of Sunday last I said, generally, that among the troops which had done conspicuously well in recent fighting were the Warwicks. It is now permissible to add that the particular performance referred to was that which without mentioning the names of the troops engaged, I had described on the preceding day, namely, the very brilliant advance on the extreme left towards Thiepval—the advance, in fact, of which the affair which I saw last evening was the sequel. It was the Warwicks who, with a loss of 300 men, took 600 prisoners and pushed forward on a front of getting on for 1,000 yards for a depth of nearly 500. It was they who forced the surrender of the fortified post from which there issued six officers and 244 unwounded prisoners. I gave the figures at the time as 170 men, but it appears that the larger number is correct.

The whole performance was undoubtedly extraordinarily good, worthy of the work which the Warwicks have already done in this battle, first on the opening day, July 1, and again later at Ovillers-la-Boisselle.

BATTLE FOR THIEPVAL.

The evidence of the men shows that the officers led magnificently; and the testimony of the officers is that the men were heroes. Among themselves they give great credit also to the men with the Lewis guns.

Among stories of the affair which they tell is one of an officer who with rifles fought a duel with, and beat, a machine-gun. He is known to be a first-class shot. From behind a sandbag barricade, or bomb-stop, with his men behind him bombing over his head, he had other of his men hand him relays of rifles, just like loaders in a butt. The enemy machine-gun men understood exactly what was going on and played on the sandbag barricade unceasingly. It was as clear a duel as if it had been held under the code; and the British officer was the better shot and found the chinks in the enemy's defences, before the machine-gun had found his.

It is said also that a sergeant of the Warwicks, mounting on the parados of the first enemy trench taken, picked off with his rifle each man of an enemy machine-gun crew. A second crew took hold; and he picked off those. Before another crew could get to work, our men had rushed the post and got the gun.

In several of the dug-outs which our men entered they found a meal half-finished, and they were able to drink the coffee still warm; while, in one dug-out, a partly-smoked cigar had been laid down and still burned on the table; and one of our men finished it.

It is some days now since I explained at some length how at every point save one on the whole circuit of the front we now hold ground as high as, or higher than, that of the enemy. So well are we now on the "ridge" that all along, from north of Pozieres to north-east of Bazentin-le-Petit, from our present positions our men look down directly on Martinpuich and Courcelette. From the place which we now hold in the recently won German "switch" trench it is only a little over 500 yards to the former village.

From one who was there yesterday I understand that there appear to be no regular trenches in the intermediate ground, which the enemy may well have been unable to build under our artillery fire. The ground, however, is commanded, of course, from Martinpuich and beyond, and, without regular trenches, deep shell craters, with which the whole ground is peppered, can be made into formidable fortified positions.

COMPARISON OF RIVAL ARTILLERIES.

August 23.

The day has passed without any infantry action of importance, except that the enemy has made desperate efforts to regain part of the ground the capture of which I described as being such a thrilling spectacle yesterday.

It was inevitable that he would make such attempts. Indeed, we were surprised at his dilatoriness in making them. When they came they were unavailing and cost him heavily. He succeeded early last evening in gaining a foothold in the most advanced angle of the line, but was driven out again during the night. A second attack in the early morning was completely crushed, partly by our artillery and partly by rifle fire, and his casualties must have been heavy. Since the beginning of the battle I doubt if there has been any series of actions so entirely satisfactory to us and so costly to the enemy as have been those of the last few days.

After four days of bright weather with a touch of autumn coolness in the air, the sky has again become overcast, and this evening it has begun to rain, not heavily, but with a quiet deliberateness which suggests that it is likely to last. The effect of the weather on operations is, of course enormous. Most important of all, perhaps is the fact that bad weather obstructs aeroplane observation and hinders our artillery.

OUR GUNNERS' DIRECT HITS.

The smallest relief in this must be immensely welcome to the enemy, for, as his own communiques confess, our treatment of him has been merciless. It is not only in the terrific concentration which we are now able to bring to bear on any section of his line which we attack (which is chiefly the business of the field guns), but all day and all night the "heavies" are harassing him far behind his front lines.

In the clear weather of the last 24 hours I understand that we have worked havoc—getting it is said, over a score of direct hits—among his massed batteries. All through this battle our "counter-battery" work has been vastly better than his. I should not be surprised, if a count could be made, if we were found to have scored 20 direct hits on his gun positions for one that he has made on ours.

Nobody pretends that, as a general rule, the German gunners are not competent, and in the earlier stages of the war we recognized that the German shooting was, apart from the fact that there was much more of it, better than ours. Now our gunners are every whit as good as the German best, and we have more guns More especially, however, have we vastly better observation.

ENEMY POUNDING HIS OWN TRENCHES.

Sometimes, lately, his shooting has been shockingly bad. A few days ago our men were amazed and delighted to see the German guns deliberately pound their own front line to pieces. Whether they thought that we were in those trenches, or whether it was mere bad shooting nobody knows, but for half an hour men saw and watched while the enemy methodically barraged the empty No. Man's Land 100 yards before them and poured shells into his front line. We do hear of our men being hit by our own shells and such things are unavoidable—but, in the battle, at least, we have made no blunder on any such scale as he made then.

His ammunition, too, we believe to be worse than it was, the percentage of "duds" which he fires being sometimes very large. We also have a certain number of "duds" in our shells, and it may be worth reminding the makers of ammunition that 20 shells which all explode as they should are vastly better than 25 of which 10 do not go off. Not that we ever had anything like 10 failures in 25 shells—and perfection is every shell is, perhaps, an impossibility. Nor is "dudness," if the word is permissible always a drawback, for an officer told me that when, with his men, he was charging an enemy trench, a "shot" from one of our guns fell immediately at his heels. Happily, the thing did not explode but the shock was just sufficient to lift him over the parapet on to a German, who did not in the least expect, or desire, him down below.

PORTUGUESE INDICTMENT OF GERMANY.

The secretary of the Mercantile Marine Service Association, Liverpool, received in mail week from the Board of Trade a copy of the following letter from the League of the Officers of the Portuguese Mercantile Marine with reference to the death of Captain Fryatt. A copy of the letter has also been sent to the Great Eastern Railway for transmission to Mrs. Fryatt:—

LISBON, Aug. 12.

The Chairman, Board of Trade, London.

Sir,—I have the honour to inform you that, considering the nefarious crime committed against the high principles of humanity by the murder of Captain Fryatt, of the British steamer Brussels, and which was carried out by the barbarous German nation, the League of the Officers of the Portuguese Mercantile Marine, called a general meeting to protest against this act. The said protest was made in the form of a motion, which was approved by acclamation, and is as follows:—

PROTEST.

The League of the Officers of the Portuguese Mercantile Marine, considering the nefarious act represented by the murder of Captain Fryatt, of the British steamer Brussels, manifests its deep contempt for a country governed by a fanatical and criminal class, where the rights of man are trodden upon, reducing him to an automaton and a shameful slavery;

Manifests its horror for the present war, the greatest crime in the history of humanity, provoked by the aforesaid class with the consent of a people unconscious of its own dignity or personal and collective responsibilities;

Manifests its revulsion at the base intrigues which, accompanied by the growth of her military power, Germany carried on in the countries condemned by her warlike boasts;

Manifests its deep regret for the unconscious consent of certain foreigners to her criminal intentions, and which resulted in fact in treason against their own countries, and against the sound principles that govern liberal nations;

Condemns most highly the crimes committed by the Germans, which are as cruel as they are cowardly, being against property and defenceless creatures;

Manifests its revulsion against the continual abuse of the laws of war by the Central Powers transforming the law so as to be fit only for barbarians, as are the Central Powers;

Protests highly against the classification of the charge against Captain Fryatt so as to justify his execution for the fact that outside of the territorial waters a captain is a Government official, representative of the laws of his country, and not a private individual carrying on the war on his own account;

Protests as well against the revolting crime notwithstanding the fact that if Captain Fryatt tried to ram the German submarine he did so in self-defence against the usual German piracy, waged on systematically and cowardly lines against the defenceless;

And finally wishes warmly for the quick and complete defeat of the Central Powers, which are the shame of the 20th century.

We should feel highly obliged if you would make known the above to the bereaved family and to any marine masters' society to which the deceased belonged.

With our warmest wishes for the prosperity of the British Mercantile Marine, please accept our testimony of high esteem and special consideration, and believe me yours truly (for the League of the Officers of the Portuguese Mercantile Marine), Jose Antonio Mifharmens, Chairman.

OUT OF THEIR OWN MOUTHS.

GERMANS GOING BACK ON THEIR BOASTS OF 40 YEARS.

Berlin Wireless recently quoted the Rector of the University of Berlin, Professor Baron von Williamowetz Moellendorf as saying to representatives of Spanish and South American literature:—

"It is a most malevolent calumny on the part of the enemy to say that we wished to tyrannise over the political and intellectual life of the whole world."

In the light of this statement the Wireless Press recalls some examples of these "calumnies" and their authors:—

"The German people must rise above the inferior people of Europe."—"Gross-Deutschland and Mitteleuropa."

"Germany claims the right to dominate other nations. . . Germany has the gift of organisation. She will organise Europe, which has hitherto been unorganised."—Prof. Ostwald.

"The enemies of Germany are sinning against the Holy Ghost of Europe".—Herr Volkskehi.

"The Germans, by reason of their ability and their industry, are intended to be the intellectual, economical and political chiefs of the peoples of Spanish and Portuguese America. The Argentine Republic, Brazil, and almost all the tattered republics of South America should be compelled to listen to these significant words. The Rio Grande do Sol must be converted into a vassal State controlled by the capital of German emigrants. The historic right of force lies with us."—Friedrich Lange.

"We are the salt of the earth. God has called upon us to civilise the world."—Kaiser Wilhelm.

Army Nursing Sister Margaret McNally, the daughter of a Barrington (Northumberland) miner, recently received a legacy of £4,300 from a lady whom she nursed some years ago. She has devoted the money to the building of a home for the orphans of soldiers killed in the war. Not long ago she was decorated by the King with the Royal Red Cross for conspicuous bravery in rescuing her patients when the hospital at which she was engaged was shelled by the Huns.

HEALTHY HAIR HINTS.

The idea that baldness is a sign of intellectuality is fast being exploded.

The hair is not pushed out of the head by the great knowledge inside.

In fact many learned men use Kaminia Oil to prevent their hair from coming out. They are succeeding with it, too.

So are many in all stages of intellectuality.

Available everywhere but it must be Kaminia Oil.

Suffering Womanhood.

Most women suffer—some more than others—during some periods of their lives. Most of this suffering is unnecessary and is, in many cases, due solely to kidney or bladder trouble—nothing more. The climate, of course, considerably affects the action of the kidneys to their detriment. So does the "drinking water" and method of living. But with it all the majority of people are not at all sure as to how kidney trouble can be recognised. Here are some of the symptoms: Aches and pains in various parts of the body, especially in the back; puffiness under the eyes; nasty taste in the mouth first thing in the morning, bladder weakness with gravel and burning internal pain; a feeling of irritability and lassitude.

People who suffer from rheumatism, sciatica, gravel, stone, gout, backache, cystitis (inflammation of the bladder) or pains in the muscles and joints, are all suffering these pains through weak or disordered kidneys, for these are the symptoms of kidney trouble.

De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills give wonderful relief by going direct to the kidneys, instead of passing through the bowels, as most kidney pills do. When you see the urine turn to a peculiar muddy, bluish colour, you have it proved beyond all doubt that this remedy has touched the weakened spot—the kidneys and the bladder. De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills are on sale everywhere in India at Rs.2 and Rs.3.8. Or direct from E. C. De Witt and Co., Ltd., P.O. Box 303, Bombay, or P.O. Box 216, Calcutta, or P.O. Box 226, Madras.

Those desirous of testing De Witt's Pills can do so by sending As. 2 in stamps. This trial size box will be sufficient to prove that De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills do give quick relief and that they do pass right through the kidneys and bladder, and not through the bowels, as most kidney pills do. This is what differentiates De Witt's from all others.

De Witt's Kidney and Bladder Pills,

while so searching and penetrating in their effects, contain no poisons or harmful ingredients. They are guaranteed to be positively harmless to the most delicate man, woman or child. They are made and packed by machinery, and are untouched by human hands.

GOVERNMENT OF MYSORE.

THE PALACE,

BANGALORE, 22nd January, 1914.

Mr. Mhatre has been patronized as a sculptor by his Highness The Maharaja of Mysore.

His Highness has much pleasure in testifying to Mr. Mhatre's talent and to the general excellence of his work.

(Sd.) MIRZA M. ISMAIL,
Huzur Secretary to
H. H. The Maharaja of Mysore

THE "MODERN REVIEW,"

CALCUTTA, March 1915.

By the courtesy of Mr. G. K. Mhatre, the sculptor, we are enabled to reproduce a photograph of the statue of H. H. Chamrajendra Wodiyar, the late Maharaja of Mysore, which is one of Mr. Mhatre's latest works. We understand H. H. the present Maharaja of Mysore has expressed satisfaction with the the work, which is only to be expected. For it is a fine work of art. For those in India who want statues or busts to be made, there is no excuse for placing their orders abroad, before they have ascertained Mr. Mhatre's terms. In his case, it is not merely swadeshism which prompts us to prefer his work the quality of the work, too, demands recognition.

"KARANATAK,"

BANGALORE, 29th April, 1914.

Among the other notable productions of Mr. Mhatre are an excellent and life-like marble statue of Mr. M. G. Ranade and a thoroughly true and graceful bust of H. H. Sri Chamarajendra Wodiyar which is such a brilliant and noble contrast to the supposed likeness of our late sovereign placed in the Lal-Bagh.

A VISIT TO THE STUDIO IS EARNESTLY SOLICITED BETWEEN 7-30 a. m. to 8 p. m. (S. T.)
